Underground A-Blast

Test Of 'Sneak' To Conceal Subsurface Blasts

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) —The United States today exploded a nuclear bomb more than a half mile underground in a major test of a possible "sneak" method of concealing subsurface blasts to long range detection should they ever be supposedly banned by treaty.

The blast, which cost $5 million to prepare and shoot, was touched off at 7:15 a.m. in a huge cavity 2,700 hundred feet beneath the surface of the gigantic Tatum salt dome, 22 miles southwest of Hattiesburg in south Mississippi.

Newsmen and other observers watching from an observation point 1.5 miles from the detonation point heard no sound from the blast, which packed the explosive wallop of 350 tons of TNT.

But the needle of a seismograph at the observation point swerved sharply several times at the instant of the detonation.

Newsmen also saw a fan shaped glow resembling a neon light above the distant point.

But project officials said the flash came not from the detonation but from an instrument at the site which was supposed to flash a light when the explosion occurred far beneath the surface.

Although the seismograph quivered sharply, no shaking of the earth was felt by observers.

While no sound was heard from the test, the experiment could have international impact in the event that the nuclear powers eventually extend the present limited test ban treaty to include underground tests.

Project scientists indicated before the shot that a successful demonstration of the sneak technique — technically known as "decoupling" or muffling — might do this:

1. Help toward ultimately developing means of detecting any such sneak tests.

2. Possibly even speed ratification of an underground test ban, since all nations would realize that any one of the others could conduct sneak attacks — and thus all would be in the same boat.

Project officials said it would be about six to 12 hours before they could determine how well the test worked in meeting its objectives.

Fifteen minustes after the blast, an Atomic Energy Commission official announced that there was no indication of any release of radioactivity above the surface of the earth from the deep-seated test.

He said that "all our radiation monitoring instruments, both on the ground and in aircraft above the detonation site, are reading only (normal) background radiation."

A helicopter flew at 300 feet altitude above ground zero and reported it found no evidence of any released radiation.

Two other aircraft of the fixed wing type flew over the area to track any radiation, had any been released, so that health officials on the ground could be alerted to evacuate any persons in the path of such danger. But they, too, reported no signs of any such hazards.

Dawn was just breaking at shot time and light winds of about 8-10 miles an hour were blowing in a southerly direction, with the temperature standing at 50 degrees.

The "Project Sterling" blast was touched off in a cavity formed in the Tatum salt dome by a previous underground nuclear explosion of much greater force in October 1964.

The earlier blast, called "Project Salmon, was equivalent to 5,000 tons of TNT and cracked plaster and some joints in masonry construction in buildings in Hattiesburg.

No such damage was expected from the latest shock because of its much weaker explosive punch and also because it is to be exploded within a cavity.

No release of radioactivity was expected.

Nevertheless, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department — joint sponsors of the project — asked 113 persons representing 28 families living within two miles of Ground Zero to evacuate their homes before the shock. All reportedly complied. Voluntary evacuees were to be paid travel

6 U.S. Jets Shot Down, All 11 Fliers Are Lost

U.S. Troops Ready To Move Into Vital Mekong Delta Area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Six U. S. supersonic jet bombers went down over North Viet Nam Friday and U.S. headquarters said all 11 fliers aboard them were lost — the highest single-day toll of airmen in the war.

Some of the American planes clashed with Communist MIG21s, but none were hit by the enemy fighters, headquarters said.

It listed all the 11 American fliers as missing — presumed dead or captured. The loss of planes was the second heaviest of the war for one day.

During the raids, a flight of four F105 Thunderchiefs encountered two of the late-model MIG21s and in a brief dogfight, the Communist jets fired heat-seeking air-to-air missiles. But a U.S. spokesman said the encounter broke off without damage to either side.

The report of the U. S. air losses followed word from the Vietnamese government that U. S. troops would move into the vital Mekong Delta where the Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been deadlocked for months.

Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky told newsmen the American forces will begin moving into the delta within three or four weeks. U. S. military officials declined to comment.

Ky said there would be a "progressive buildup" of U. S. troops in the delta where 7 million of south Viet Nam's 15 million people are. Much of the rice-rich area is under Viet Cong domination. Some U. S. military strategists have long advocated using American forces there.

U.S. headquarters said four of the lost American planes were shot down by enemy ground fire. This could have been conventional antiaircraft fire or surface-to-air missiles, but U.S. spokesmen declined to say which on grounds of security. The other two planes were listed as down from unknown causes.

The plane losses, exceeded only on last Aug. 7 when seven

Pattern For Integrated Latin America

LBJ Crosses Into Mexico To Inspect Amistad Dam

CIUDAD ACUNA, Mexico (AP) — President Johnson said today a strong, integrated Latin America can be achieved only by working across frontiers and pooling human and material resources.

He said the cooperation between the United States and Mexico in building the $78-million Amistad Dam upstream from Ciudad Acuna and Del Rio, Tex., "sets a pattern which I hope will be increasingly repeated by neighboring countries throughout the hemisphere."

Johnson crossed the Rio Grande to join Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz in inspecting the huge dam. In a speech prepared for ceremonies in the town square of the border community, Johnson said "in the total development of Latin America, region-wide plans and colaboration are absolutely necessary."

He said the forthcoming meeting of presidents of American republics, which he is expected to attend, will provide "an opportunity to give the multinational project movement added impetus."

Johnson described the Amistad Dam as "another link in the bridge of mutual trust, friendship and progress which unite our peoples."

Because Mexican law prohibits Diaz Ordaz from leaving his country without permission of his Congress — and the Mexican Congress is not in session — the two presidents arranged to meet at the middle of the International Bridge near Del Rio, then motor to Ciudad Acuna.

There Johnson hailed the dam as "a monument to the future."

"As the ideals of Abraham Lincoln served to link our two countries during the past century, so will the symbolism and use of Amistad Dam reinforce the ties in the decades to come," he said.

"The work we see going on around us tells the dramatic story of what two peoples working together can accomplish."

Following an inspection of the dam site from helicopters, the two presidents attended a barbeque luncheon, motor to the base of the dam for a 40-minute look, then drive back to the upper level where they will exchange goodbyes.

Informed sources on both sides of the border said the only purpose of the meeting was to inspect the dam.

This marks Johnson's second visit to Mexico in eight months. He and Mrs. Johnson flew to Mexico City in mid-April for a 24-hour visit. Mrs. Johnson is accompanying the President on today's inspection trip, too.

The dam, now about 57 per cent complete, is designed to prevent the floods originating in the Devils and Pecos rivers on the American side and the Conchos on the Mexican side.

The dam will be about 6½ miles long and rise 254 feet above the river bed. Its reservoir will hold more than 5.6 million acre-feet of water, 56.2 per cent of which is being allocated to the United States and 43.8 per cent to Mexico. The cost will be shared by the two governments in the same percentage.

SEC Offers Mutual Funds Reform Plan

Report Will Face Stiff Opposition From The Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key parts of a government plan to reform mutual fund operations — including an outright ban on one type investment — face stiff opposition from the $37- billion industry.

In a 346-page report Friday, Commission recommended a 5 per cent ceiling on sales charges by mutual funds, reduced advisory fees and a ban on contract plans which can siphon off up to half the first-year investment in commissions and fees.

If adopted by Congress, the recommendations could save investors millions of dollars yearly, commission sources said.

More than 3.5 million Americans own shares in the 379 mutual funds which were registered by the commission as of last June 30.

They paid an estimated $130 million last year in advisory fees, $260 million in sales charges — a typical sales charge is 9.3 per cent of the amount invested — and $100 million in brokerage commissions on the purchase and sale of securities by mutual funds, the SEC said.

Mutual funds sell shares representing an investment in the securities they hold, thus permitting a customer to spread his money over a large number of stocks, usually 30 to 40.

Commission Chairman Manuel F. Cohen said the recommendations are designed to protect investors against excessive charges without any drastic overhaul of the industry's structure or regulatory pattern.

He described mutual funds as a sound and useful investment medium and said the report should strengthen public confi-

Sub-Zero In Nothern States

Wintry Weather Covering Nation

By The Associated Press

Wintry weather spread over much of the nation Saturday.

Sub-zero cold gripped northern border states and freezing temperatures extended southward into Texas.

In the East, storms off Lake Erie and Lake Ontario abated after dumping huge amounts of snow on two widely separated sections of western New York.

Goodly amounts of snow covered sections of western Maryland and northeastern Ohio.

The New York storms left more than 250 persons stranded in Ripley, Westfield and Fredonia, along Lake Erie, south of Buffalo. Forced off highways by blinding snow squalls, they sought shelter in school gymnasiums and other public buildings until the storm blew itself out.

Mayville, near the Pennsylvania border, recorded 52 inches of snow with some drifts much higher. Temperatures across New York ranged from near zero to the low teens.

The New York Thruway, made impassable from Silver Creek, south of Buffalo, to the Pennsylvania border by the snow, reopened after being closed for 13 hours.

In the snowbelt area of Lake Ontario all main highways were reported open as the storm blew itself out. Motels and hotels along Interstate 81 between Watertown and Syracuse, N.Y., were reported overtaxed by motorists who left the highway as the storm struck.

The storm dumped 30 inches of snow on Conneaut, Ohio, and officials there said, "We're throwing in the towel." Drivers of snow plows reported they were unable to see because of the blinding snow.

The snowfalls also was reported heavy in Lake and Geauga counties east of Cleveland. Interstate 90, a four-lane super highway, was down to one lane in each direction and about 40 automobiles were stranded in the area.

U.S. Official Due Move In Nurse Strike

Mediator Confers With Both Sides In Youngstown Issues

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— A federal mediator from Cleveland will try to settle four issues between the Youngstown Hospital Association and some 350 registered nurses who quit their jobs.

Kenneth E. Moffett of the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service said he would meet today at 1:30 pm. with hospital representatives and members of the Youngstown Nurses Association.

Both sides agreed the issues are: wages, union security, pay for surgical nurses on call and inclusion of head nurses in the bargaining unit.

The nurses walked out Thursday at North Side and South Side hospitals, both operated by the hospital association. Both hospitals are down to about half their normal patient load of 790 and further reductions are expected if the walkout continues.

No emergency cases were being turned away, a hospital spokesman said. Only elective surgery has been curtailed. The spokesman added that 105 nursing posts have been filled since the walkout. Normally, 181 posts are filled.

After the resignation, the hospital association told nurses who stayed on the job that wage increases and fringe benefits offered the Ohio State Nurses Association last Tuesday would go

Power Cut Off By Break In County Area

NEW WATERFORD—A power line break here early today left an eight - square - mile area without electricity for more than three hours.

Deane Beck, Salem area manager for the Ohio Edison Co., said the break probably was due to the near - zero weather. Crews were called at 4:55 a.m. and had service restored by 8.

Sheriff's Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman said a cleaning woman at Red's Log Cabin on Route 14 called the County Jail at 4:37 to report the lights had gone out.

Wellman said the failure extended from the top of Firestone Hill east on Route 14 to Keating's Skating Rink, south to New Waterford, west to Middleton on Route 7, then north to Firestone Farms.

The deputy wakened Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rambo, who operate the Hess Greenhouse in Middleton, and they used auxiliary heating to save most of their crop of chrysanthemums. The greenhouse oil heating system is electrically ignited.

Launches New Term In U.N.

Thant Vows Every Effort To Restore Peace In Viet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Heartened by a resounding vote of confidence from the General Assembly, U Thant set forth today on another five-year term as secretary-general of the United Nations. He told the General Assembly he would "make every effort on a personal basis" to bring peace to war-torn Viet Nam.

Applause echoed through the blue and gold Assembly Hall Friday night as the member states unanimously approved a second term for the little Burmese ex-schoolmaster.

Plainly affected by the ovation, the 57-year-old diplomat told the packed chamber that he had been "deeply touched" by the warm praise he had been receiving from the delegates.

"I am confronted by an overwhelming weight of opinion," he said, "that under present circumstances, my continuance as secretary- general for another term would serve the higher interests of the organization and thus represent a positive factor in the current situation."

Thant expressed keen disappointment over failure to bring peace to Viet Nam, but held hope for the future.

"The threats to peace in many parts of the world, and more particularly in Viet Nam are for me a continuing source of anxiety and even anguish," he said.

"I was glad to know a few days ago that there is general agreement in regard to a brief pause in the fighting in Viet Nam on the occasion of Christmas and other holidays.

"Is it too much to hope," he asked, "that what is made possible for just a couple of days by the occurrence of common holidays may soon prove feasible for a longer period by the new commitments that peace requires so that an atmosphere may be created which is neces-

Area Cold Continues Following 12 Below

The cold is due to continue over the weekend, with a slight easing off Sunday.

The forecast calls for clearing and cold tonight, with a low of between 5 and 10 above zero, and increasing cloudiness and not quite so cold Sunday.

The overnight low recorded by Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, was 12 below zero. This is unusually cold for the first of December, although not a record, Copeland said.

Abolish Draft, Church Board Policy Urges

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The draft should be abolished and young men should be allowed to refuse to fight in what they personally consider an unjust war, say policy statements to be presented before the General Board of the National Council of Churches.

The policy statements, which are expected to be approved today by the General Board, would urge acceptance of the idea of "selective objectors."

Among other things, the policy would allow each man to refuse to serve in what he considered an unjust war.

The concept would also allow the individual soldier to refuse to obey some orders during war, if he, as an individual, saw fit to do so.

Another policy statement up for consideration by the 120 voting members present calls for an end to the draft and urges that incentives be made high enough to attract voluntary manpower for all the armed forces.

A policy statement by the board represents a consensus of its members, it has no binding authority on the 41 million members of 30 cooperating denominations in the National Council of Churches.

One Fleeing Slain In Ironton

Jailbreakers Kill Police Chief, Wound Patrolman

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)— An Ironton policeman, his spinal cord severed by a bullet, fights for life.

His chief is dead, mowed down by jailbreakers.

One of the four men who tried to break out of ancient Lawrence County Jail also is dead, cut down by police bullets.

The other three are charged with first-degree murder.

They include the only one to make good his escape. He surrendered voluntarily eight hours later as an estimated 200 law enforcement officers sought him.

Another bears an arm wound, a souvenir of Friday's noontime shootout that stunned this Ohio River city of 16,000.

Ironton police Capt. George Haas, named acting chief in place of slain Walter E. Markel, and Sheriff Carl E. Rose press the investigation into the tragedy.

Markel, 41, and prisoner William (Jim) Bailey, 28, who wielded a submachinegun during the breakout attempt, were the fatalities.

The chances of patrolman Charles Giles, 30, for survival remained uncertain after a team of three doctors worked over him nearly three hours at Plainly affected by the ovation, the 57-year-old diplomat told the packed chamber that he had been "deeply touched" by the warm praise he had been receiving from the delegates.

"I am confronted by an overwhelming weight of opinion," he said, "that under present circumstances, my continuance as secretary- general for another term would serve the higher interests of the organization and thus represent a positive factor in the current situation."

Thant expressed keen disappointment over failure to bring peace to Viet Nam, but held hope for the future.

"The threats to peace in many parts of the world, and more particularly in Viet Nam are for me a continuing source of anxiety and even anguish," he said.

"I was glad to know a few days ago that there is general agreement in regard to a brief pause in the fighting in Viet Nam on the occasion of Christmas and other holidays.

"Is it too much to hope," he asked, "that what is made possible for just a couple of days by the occurrence of common holidays may soon prove feasible for a longer period by the new commitments that peace requires so that an atmosphere may be created which is neces-

Area Cold Continues Following 12 Below

The cold is due to continue over the weekend, with a slight easing off Sunday.

The forecast calls for clearing and cold tonight, with a low of between 5 and 10 above zero, and increasing cloudiness and not quite so cold Sunday.

The overnight low recorded by Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, was 12 below zero. This is unusually cold for the first of December, although not a record, Copeland said.

Abolish Draft, Church Board Policy Urges

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The draft should be abolished and young men should be allowed to refuse to fight in what they personally consider an unjust war, say policy statements to be presented before the General Board of the National Council of Churches.

The policy statements, which are expected to be approved today by the General Board, would urge acceptance of the idea of "selective objectors."

Among other things, the policy would allow each man to refuse to serve in what he considered an unjust war.

The concept would also allow the individual soldier to refuse to obey some orders during war, if he, as an individual, saw fit to do so.

Another policy statement up for consideration by the 120 voting members present calls for an end to the draft and urges that incentives be made high enough to attract voluntary manpower for all the armed forces.

A policy statement by the board represents a consensus of its members, it has no binding authority on the 41 million members of 30 cooperating denominations in the National Council of Churches.

Jailbreakers Kill Police Chief, Wound Patrolman

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)— An Ironton policeman, his spinal cord severed by a bullet, fights for life.

His chief is dead, mowed down by jailbreakers.

One of the four men who tried to break out of ancient Lawrence County Jail also is dead, cut down by police bullets.

The other three are charged with first-degree murder.

They include the only one to make good his escape. He surrendered voluntarily eight hours later as an estimated 200 law enforcement officers sought him.

Another bears an arm wound a souvenir of Friday's noontime shootout that stunned this Ohio River city of 16,000.

Ironton police Capt. George Haas, named acting chief in place of slain Walter E. Markel, and Sheriff Carl E. Rose press the investigation into the tragedy.

Markel, 41, and prisoner William (Jim) Bailey, 28, who wielded a submachinegun during the breakout attempt, were the fatalities.

The chances of patrolman Charles Giles, 30, for survival remained uncertain after a team of three doctors worked over him nearly three hours at

California U. Officials, Student Leaders Confer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — University of California administrators negotiated with student leaders today in the current strife over Navy recruitment on the Berkeley campus.

Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan advised insurgent students to "get out" and legislators demanded action against some faculty members.

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns blamed the deliberate infractions of outsiders for the classroom boycott at the 27,500-student campus by an unknown number of students and teaching assistants.

Heyns, who said the strike of classes appeared to have only limited effectiveness, declared that negotiations to end the campus upheaval would involve faculty and students only.

The disruption began Wednesday in the Student Union building during a protest against a Navy recruiting table. Protesters tried to set up a rival table, fighting started and police were called.

Six nonstudents and four students were arrested. A strike of classes was called, and the Teachers Assistants' Union voted support of demands for approval of nonstudent activities on the campus.

It was not possible to tell how effective the boycott was. A heavy rain kept some students away for two days. A nose count analysis of classrooms was not available from the university.

Heyns told a news conference Friday that he backed the use of police and he warned teaching staff assistants, sympathetic to the strike, that he expected them to stay on the job.

Calls came from those high in state government to crack down hard on strike-sympathetic students and teachers, and nonstudents who agitate at the university.

"Accept and obey the prescribed rules or get out," Gov.-elect Reagan advised Berkeley dissidents.

Referring to faculty members joining the student protest, he said: "If any employe of the university does not do his job, he has served notice of his intent to quit."

Reagan repeated a campaign pledge that John McCone, former head of the CIA, would be asked to head a probe of the Berkeley campus troubles. Reagan will become governor Jan. 2.

California U. Officials, Student Leaders Confer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — University of California administrators negotiated with student leaders today in the current strife over Navy recruitment on the Berkeley campus.

Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan advised insurgent students to "get out" and legislators demanded action against some faculty members.

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns blamed the deliberate infractions of outsiders for the classroom boycott at the 27,500-student campus by an unknown number of students and teaching assistants.

Heyns, who said the strike of classes appeared to have only limited effectiveness, declared that negotiations to end the campus upheaval would involve faculty and students only.

The disruption began Wednesday in the Student Union building during a protest against a Navy recruiting table. Protesters tried to set up a rival table, fighting started and police were called.

Six nonstudents and four students were arrested. A strike of classes was called, and the Teachers Assistants' Union voted support of demands for approval of nonstudent activities on the campus.

It was not possible to tell how effective the boycott was. A heavy rain kept some students away for two days. A nose count analysis of classrooms was not available from the university.

Heyns told a news conference Friday that he backed the use of police and he warned teaching staff assistants, sympathetic to the strike, that he expected them to stay on the job.

Calls came from those high in state government to crack down hard on strike-sympathetic students and teachers, and nonstudents who agitate at the university.

"Accept and obey the prescribed rules or get out," Gov.-elect Reagan advised Berkeley dissidents.

Referring to faculty members joining the student protest, he said: "If any employe of the university does not do his job, he has served notice of his intent to quit."

Reagan repeated a campaign pledge that John McCone, former head of the CIA, would be asked to head a probe of the Berkeley campus troubles. Reagan will become governor Jan. 2.

Viet Nam

went down, were announced as ground fighting flared in scattered areas of South Viet Nam. Much of the fighting was within a 30-mile radius of Saigon, the South Vietnamese capital.

Other developments included:

—The Viet Cong mined a Vietnamese military train carrying ammunition and other goods six miles northeast of Saigon today. The locomotive and three boxcars were derailed and three of the train's crew were wounded.

—Viet Cong gunners shelled the French freighter Sindh with 10 rounds of 77mm recoilless-rifle fire as the vessel headed for Saigon up the Long Tau River. The freighter, carrying 25 tons of TNT and other cargo, suffered heavy damage and two crewmen were wounded.

In one ground action, Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing 25 Viet Cong today 24 miles northwest of the capital.

In another action today, 23 miles north of Saigon, a unit of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division killed two Viet Cong during Operation Bismarck and located a newly constructed enemy base camp a mile away. As the infantrymen moved in on the camp they came under Viet Cong fire and called in air and artillery support. Late today, the action was reported still under way.

Another unit of the 1st Infantry Division reported killing three Viet Cong in a new operation named Healdsburg, ranging 25 to 30 miles north and northwest of Saigon.

U.S. headquarters revised upward the number of Viet Cong killed by units of the 11th armored Cavalry Regiment while repulsing an enemy ambush Friday 50 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said the enemy force, estimated at battalion size of about 500 to 600, lost 93 men, an increase of five over the previously reported figure. U. S. casualties were termed light in the action which was fought along Highway 1.

Five of the planes that went down were F4 Phantom jets, the fastest plane in combat and capable of speeds in excess of 1,500 miles per hour. Each of the Phantoms was manned by two crewmen. The other plane lost was an F105 Thunderchief with only the pilot aboard.

The six planes downed brought to 433 the number of announced American losses over North Viet Nam in the war.

The North Viet Nam news agency earlier claimed that 11 American planes were shot down in Friday's raids, the closest to Hanoi in five months.

U.S. pilots had taken advantage of a clearing in the weather to mount the raids after monsoon rains and low hanging clouds hampered air blows for three weeks.

In all, U.S. pilots flew 71 bombing missions — probably 250 to 300 individual strikes.

During the forays, 11 flights — about 44 planes — from the aircraft carriers Ticonderoga and Franklin D. Roosevelt attacked the Van Dien vehicle depot only five miles south of Hanoi.

Pilots reported there were about 500 trucks and other vehicles in the depot and said they touched off numerous fires and secondary explosions in the target area.

Air Force pilots struck at the Ha Gia oil storage area 14½ miles north of Hanoi. They encountered the MIG21s, the first appearance of the Communist jets reported in recent weeks.

U.S. pilots said they set off a large secondary explosion and numerous smaller ones in the fuel storage area. They also reported two large oil fires and black smoke billowing, as well as fire in an adjacent military barracks. They said they silenced four radar missile sites protecting the oil depot and knocked out a nearby antiaircraft gun position.

In other air action, B52 bombers returned before dawn today to bomb North Vietnamese positions close to the Cambodian border and 17 miles northwest of the U.S. Army Special Forces camp at Plei Djereng. The target area and nearby positions have been repeatedly hit by B52s in the last four weeks. A U.S. spokesman said today's target was a North Vietnamese staging area with extensive bunkers and tunnels, where U.S. troops had clashed with the enemy Nov. 11 and 12.

In the same area, 18 miles west-northwest of the Plei Djereng Green Beret camp, a unit of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division clashed Friday with an estimated company of 120 men of North Vietnamese.

The infantrymen called in reinforcements and air and artillery support. After three and a half hours of fighting, they reported killing 11 North Vietnamese while taking light casualties.

Across the country near the South China Sea coast, units of the 101st Airborne Division clashed in two separate actions Friday and today 20 miles northwest of Tuy Hoa. The paratroopers reported killing 15 North Vietnamese in one action Friday while taking light casualties, and killing five more North Vietnamese today while suffering no casualties.

In air action over South Viet Nam Friday, U.S. pilots flew 320 sorties and claimed damage or destruction of 237 enemy structures. South Vietnamese flew 109 sorties.

Vietnamese military headquarters reported government troops killed 13 Viet Cong in two small actions Friday.

Funds

dence not only in them but also in the securities markets.

If adopted, the suggested reforms would represent the first basic change in 26 years in the Investment Company Act of 1940, the law now governing mutual funds.

The industry, which had a sneak preview of the report several weeks ago, was quick to react with one association voicing strong opposition to the proposed ban on so-called front-end load funds.

Another group, the Investment Company Institute, said the industry will agree with some recommendations and reject others but it didn't spell out which ones.

The Association of Mutual Fund Plan Sponsors Inc., comprised of 19 funds doing 70 per cent of the contract plan business, said the report ignores corrective changes made within the industry over the last four years.

It said the ban on front-end load funds was contrary to the public interest.

Under these plans, a customer agrees to invest a given amount over a specified period, 10 years for example, with up to half the first year's investment going for sales charges.

This is legal under the 1940 act as long as the over-all charge for the life of the contract does not exceed 9 per cent.

The association said contract plans are an increasingly popular method of investment and many persons with full knowledge of the plans prefer them to other investment tools.

At the end of 1965, there were about 1.3 million of these accounts on which about $3 billion had been paid, the commission said.

The proposed ban would affect only future accounts, not those already in existence.

Other recommendations would require "reasonable" management charges, prevent creation and operation of fund holding companies and regulate the sale of stocks in organizations which manage mutual funds.

Another major recommendation calls on the stock exchanges to give institutional buyers, including mutual funds, a discount on commissions to save the investor money and eliminate fee splitting.

Stock exchanges fix minimum commission rates which fail to take account of the savings involved in handling the large orders of mutual funds, the SEC said.

Brokers frequently are willing to handle these transactions for a fraction of the required fee and the excess is then passed on to others who may sell shares in the mutual fund or have provided other services for it.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pan American World Airways and the Transport Workers Union have reached a tentative contract agreement on wages, averting a threatened strike against the United States' largest international carrier.

During a series of hour-to-hour postponements Friday of a walkout threatened for noon, Pan Am service to 16,500 daily passengers on 360 flights in 128 cities across the world was never interrupted.

The union, representing 13,000 ground and flight personnel, postponed any strike action after receiving a new contract offer from the airline shortly before the deadline.

Five hours later, the union announced it had accepted Pan Am's new offer which TWU International President Matthew Guinan described as "a reasonable and just settlement."

Stitches Are Required Following Fight Here

Albert J. Baker, 46, of 627 Railroad St. required five stitches in the lip at City Hospital Friday afternoon as the result of an alleged fight in Green Ln.

Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr. investigated a call about 12:30 reporting a fight. He found Baker standing in the alley covered with blood.

Baker, who also lost two teeth in the incident, was charged with intoxication.

Shooting

St. Mary's Hospital in nearby Huntington, W. Va.

He was listed in critical condition after coming out of surgery Friday night. Two neurosurgeons and a lung specialist performed the operation.

It was not known whether Giles would be paralyzed.

Carl E. Halleck, 30, was the fugitive who turned up at a residence at the north edge of the city, about three miles from the jail, and asked that police be called. He was arrested without resistance.

Halleck; Donald E. Jenkins, 22, wounded, and Ronald Browning, 21, captured at the shooting scene around the county courthouse and jail, were charged Friday night with murder. They are held for the grand jury without bond.

They were the only three prisoners who accepted Bailey's invitation to join in a breakout attempt, after Bailey had snatched a deputy's gun in the jail office. He had been permitted out of his cell to make a phone call.

The prisoners, holding three deputies at gunpoint, got other weapons from a gun cabinet. But at the same time a woman in a nearby office called city police.

Chief Markel and Giles rushed to the scene and were felled by shots without warnings as they entered the jail.

The prisoners then went outside only to walk into gunfire from another Ironton policeman and an Ohio highway patrolman. Halleck ran down an alley.

Viet Nam

went down, were announced as ground fighting flared in scattered areas of South Viet Nam. Much of the fighting was within a 30-mile radius of Saigon, the South Vietnamese capital.

Other developments included:

—The Viet Cong mined a Vietnamese military train carrying ammunition and other goods six miles northeast of Saigon today. The locomotive and three boxcars were derailed and three of the train's crew were wounded.

—Viet Cong gunners shelled the French freighter Sindh with 10 rounds of 77mm recoilless-rifle fire as the vessel headed for Saigon up the Long Tau River. The freighter, carrying 25 tons of TNT and other cargo, suffered heavy damage and two crewmen were wounded.

In one ground action, Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing 25 Viet Cong today 24 miles northwest of the capital.

In another action today, 23 miles north of Saigon, a unit of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division killed two Viet Cong during Operation Bismarck and located a newly constructed enemy base camp a mile away. As the infantrymen moved in on the camp they came under Viet Cong fire and called in air and artillery support. Late today, the action was reported still under way.

Another unit of the 1st Infantry Division reported killing three Viet Cong in a new operation named Healdsburg, ranging 25 to 30 miles north and northwest of Saigon.

U.S. headquarters revised upward the number of Viet Cong killed by units of the 11th armored Cavalry Regiment while repulsing an enemy ambush Friday 50 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said the enemy force, estimated at battalion size of about 500 to 600, lost 93 men, an increase of five over the previously reported figure. U. S. casualties were termed light in the action which was fought along Highway 1.

Five of the planes that went down were F4 Phantom jets, the fastest plane in combat and capable of speeds in excess of 1,500 miles per hour. Each of the Phantoms was manned by two crewmen. The other plane lost was an F105 Thunderchief with only the pilot aboard.

The six planes downed brought to 433 the number of announced American losses over North Viet Nam in the war.

The North Viet Nam news agency earlier claimed that 11 American planes were shot down in Friday's raids, the closest to Hanoi in five months.

U.S. pilots had taken advantage of a clearing in the weather to mount the raids after monsoon rains and low hanging clouds hampered air blows for three weeks.

In all, U.S. pilots flew 71 bombing missions — probably 250 to 300 individual strikes.

During the forays, 11 flights — about 44 planes — from the aircraft carriers Ticonderoga and Franklin D. Roosevelt attacked the Van Dien vehicle depot only five miles south of Hanoi.

Pilots reported there were about 500 trucks and other vehicles in the depot and said they touched off numerous fires and secondary explosions in the target area.

Air Force pilots struck at the Ha Gia oil storage area 14½ miles north of Hanoi. They encountered the MIG21s, the first appearance of the Communist jets reported in recent weeks.

U.S. pilots said they set off a large secondary explosion and numerous smaller ones in the fuel storage area. They also reported two large oil fires and black smoke billowing, as well as fire in an adjacent military barracks. They said they silenced four radar missile sites protecting the oil depot and knocked out a nearby antiaircraft gun position.

In other air action, B52 bombers returned before dawn today to bomb North Vietnamese positions close to the Cambodian border and 17 miles northwest of the U.S. Army Special Forces camp at Plei Djereng. The target area and nearby positions have been repeatedly hit by B52s in the last four weeks. A U.S. spokesman said today's target was a North Vietnamese staging area with extensive bunkers and tunnels, where U.S. troops had clashed with the enemy Nov. 11 and 12.

In the same area, 18 miles west-northwest of the Plei Djereng Green Beret camp, a unit of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division clashed Friday with an estimated company of 120 men of North Vietnamese.

The infantrymen called in reinforcements and air and artillery support. After three and a half hours of fighting, they reported killing 11 North Vietnamese while taking light casualties.

Across the country near the South China Sea coast, units of the 101st Airborne Division clashed in two separate actions Friday and today 20 miles northwest of Tuy Hoa. The paratroopers reported killing 15 North Vietnamese in one action Friday while taking light casualties, and killing five more North Vietnamese today while suffering no casualties.

In air action over South Viet Nam Friday, U.S. pilots flew 320 sorties and claimed damage or destruction of 237 enemy structures. South Vietnamese flew 109 sorties.

Vietnamese military headquarters reported government troops killed 13 Viet Cong in two small actions Friday.

Funds

dence not only in them but also in the securities markets.

If adopted, the suggested reforms would represent the first basic change in 26 years in the Investment Company Act of 1940, the law now governing mutual funds.

The industry, which had a sneak preview of the report several weeks ago, was quick to react with one association voicing strong opposition to the proposed ban on so-called front-end load funds.

Another group, the Investment Company Institute, said the industry will agree with some recommendations and reject others but it didn't spell out which ones.

The Association of Mutual Fund Plan Sponsors Inc., comprised of 19 funds doing 70 per cent of the contract plan business, said the report ignores corrective changes made within the industry over the last four years.

It said the ban on front-end load funds was contrary to the public interest.

Under these plans, a customer agrees to invest a given amount over a specified period, 10 years for example, with up to half the first year's investment going for sales charges.

This is legal under the 1940 act as long as the over-all charge for the life of the contract does not exceed 9 per cent.

The association said contract plans are an increasingly popular method of investment and many persons with full knowledge of the plans prefer them to other investment tools.

At the end of 1965, there were about 1.3 million of these accounts on which about $3 billion had been paid, the commission said.

The proposed ban would affect only future accounts, not those already in existence.

Other recommendations would require "reasonable" management charges, prevent creation and operation of fund holding companies and regulate the sale of stocks in organizations which manage mutual funds.

Another major recommendation calls on the stock exchanges to give institutional buyers, including mutual funds, a discount on commissions to save the investor money and eliminate fee splitting.

Stock exchanges fix minimum commission rates which fail to take account of the savings involved in handling the large orders of mutual funds, the SEC said.

Brokers frequently are willing to handle these transactions for a fraction of the required fee and the excess is then passed on to others who may sell shares in the mutual fund or have provided other services for it.

Wage Accord Halts Airline Strike Threat

NEW YORK (AP) — Pan American World Airways and the Transport Workers Union have reached a tentative contract agreement on wages, averting a threatened strike against the United States' largest international carrier.

During a series of hour-to-hour postponements Friday of a walkout threatened for noon, Pan Am service to 16,500 daily passengers on 360 flights in 128 cities across the world was never interrupted.

The union, representing 13,000 ground and flight personnel, postponed any strike action after receiving a new contract offer from the airline shortly before the deadline.

Five hours later, the union announced it had accepted Pan Am's new offer which TWU International President Matthew Guinan described as "a reasonable and just settlement."

U Thant Will Try Again

U Thant, severest critic of the United Nations, because he hasn't been able to make it work, is going to keep trying. He has accepted another term as U.N. secretary-general.

The difference between the secretary-general and other severe critics of the United Nations is that he critizes from the inside and they criticize from the outside.

They revile the United Nations because they say the organization has failed.

U Thant says it has failed because the people who could make it work never have given it a chance. He blames the people.

Critics say, if they are Americans, that the United States should throw out the United Nations and start something better.

U Thant says the United States and the other nations should keep the United Nations because in the present situation no other organization could work any better. He doesn't hold the organization responsible for human failure.

He charges the United States, itself, with bad faith in Viet Nam.

He does this in full knowledge of one fact many critics never have comprehended—that the United Nations was created and has been used from the beginning as an adjunct of the U.S. State Department. It is an essential instrument of U.S. policy.

When World War II ended, the United States resolved that international slaughter had to be and could be ended by cooperative security. There would need to be a reincarnation of the League of Nations, which had been destroyed by the intransigence of governments that refused to act for their mutual protection against the Mussolinis and Hitlers of the '30s.

The United Nations was created to do the job. It is being destroyed by the same thing that destroyed the League and would destroy any other organization dedicated to keep international peace.

Those who rant about its failure are actually ranting about the failure of mankind to rise above the violence and terror that have challenged peacemakers throughout aeons of frustration. In many instances, the ranters literally are indicating themselves for their own failure.

When they cry that there needs to be something better than this mockery of good faith, they are bewailing the nature of mankind.

Would it help to change the name of the United Nations to something else and persuade U Thant, who has had on-the-job training, to run the new outfit under an assumed name?

Of course not.

Men need to be changed—not the United Nations.

Can They Agree To Agree

Republican governors and governors-elect will meet for two days in Colorado Springs beginning Friday Dec. 9.

The record of the Republican Governors Conference is spotty. The idea of a formal association with headquarters in Washington has been abandoned. Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, who has served as association chairman since the organization of the conference five years ago and who called the Colorado meeting, is a loser. He was defeated in the Aug. 2 primary in his bid for a fourth term.

The Republican governors failed in 1964 to halt a drive powered by Capitol Hill to win presidential nomination for Sen. Barry Goldwater.

On the other hand, the Republican governors in 1952 were instrumental in nominating Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower against the greatest name in the Republican party, Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Governors tend to be more moderate than leaders in Congress. So the Colorado conference is expected in its private conversations to line up behind a moderate.

The elections gave Republicans eight new governorships for a total of 25 states, not counting Georgia, where the result is still in doubt. Republican governors will preside over 57.5 per cent of the U.S. population after inaugurations in January.

Both Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, another rather overwhelming reelection victor, on Nov. 21 at a press conference at Dorado, Puerto Rico, pointed toward the Republican governors conference as an opportunity to reach an agreement on programs. The undercurrent of comment was that it would be an opportunity too to reach a more important agreement, however tentative, on a presidential candidate for 1968.

In one view what is going to be decided is whether that many Republican leaders can get together on practical ways to improve their party's prospects of winning the 1968 presidential election, or whether the party is still crippled by the ideological hassle that bemused it in 1964.

An Award Worth Having

Danny Kaye, long a very popular American, now has been further distinguished by his designation as a "Splendid American."

Danny and Edwin O. Reischauer, former U.S. ambassador to Japan, have been so honored for their worldwide efforts to dispel the image of the "ugly American."

Those who have been made sick at heart by observing the "ugly American" in action around the world can best appreciate the importance and value of such a counteracting recognition.

One of the most obvious ways in which Danny strives for one-worldness is his frequent use of entertainers from other lands on his shows. His love for humanity, particularly children, regardless of color or creed, comes across loud and clear through the medium of television.

Danny's projected image of an American is one of the greatest. It is no wonder he was selected for the award by the Thomas A. Dooley Foundation.

There are awards, and there are rewards. But certainly this rewarding award conferred on Danny Kaye and Edwin Reischauer should be among those most coveted and striven for by all of us.

Here's to ever more "Splendid Americans."

Just Too Many People

We now have had an unscheduled and obviously unrehearsed preview of a disaster that could wipe out more life than the nuclear bombs we fear.

An atmospheric condition over the New York City area on Thanksgiving Day trapped the pollutants continuously poured into the air there and threatened to smother the inhabitants. Had it been an ordinary working day, with heavy traffic and full activity, thousands could have died.

It was revealed that New York City exists in fear of this disaster and keeps continuous watch over the degree of pollution, with a view to sounding general alerts if conditions become so dangerous that all combustion and auto traffic may have to be halted.

It was made clear that the people who know what the danger is understand how close to disaster New York City's inhabitants are living and how little room there is for conditions to get worse.

All it would take to precipitate one of the worst mass tragedies of all time would be the right combination of atmospheric conditions.

The only thing saving the city is climatological luck. It is doing nothing to save itself. If its luck runs out, there will be no man-made margin of security.

Will the Thanksgiving Day scare make any difference? Probably not.

The grimmest thing about air pollution in the New York City area is the seeming impossibility of doing anything about it. No one knows how the more than eight million people who live in the city's six boroughs and the millions who live nearby in New Jersey and Connecticut could be kept warm, their refuse burned and their electricity generated without near-lethal air pollution.

There are just too many people crowded into too small a space.

U.N. Gets A Lift

By James Marlow

Twenty-one years ago in San Francisco, when the United Nations was patched together, there was almost a feeling of exhiliration around the world.

Perhaps there could be a new beginning when reason and co-operation would prevail and war at last would be disowned as primitive. History indicated otherwise.

But at least there was a chance. In the 16 years since there have been no wars between major powers, but there have been wars. And the two biggest, Korea and Viet Nam, involved the United States.

Although the statesmen of the two nuclear giants of the world, the United States and the Soviet Union, may claim that reason was the persuasive factor in their ability to avoid a head-on clash, fear was a big element, perhaps the biggest.

THUS, THE United Nations has not been the ideal solution of the world's problems and, in the foreseeable future, there is no reason to think it will be.

But so long as the world's antagonists can meet, argue, dicker and be made just a little self-conscious about reverting to barbarism there is a chance over many years they may achieve a maturity lacking now.

This kind of belief is perhaps the basic reason why U Thant agreed Thursday to stay on another five years as U.N. secretary - general after announcing last Sept. 1 that his first five-year term, ending this year, was his last.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union wanted him to stay. His agreement to do so, and he was under pressure from many other governments to say yes, may have averted U.N. chaos in trying to find a successor.

Thant, 57, a Burmese, has no illusions that the United Nations is the perfect instrument for the salvation of the world, as he made clear in September when he announced he wouldn't serve again.

He particularly denounced the Vietnamese war, calling it cruel and a "reproach to the conscience of humanity." He has proposed three points for a settlement of the war, but they have gotten nowhere.

BY HIMSELF Thant almost surely will work no miracles, since this would be expecting much from an individual in his position in a world in its present condition.

But at least he is earnest, he has balance, he is courageous enough to be critical of the big powers, even though he expresses himself in diplomatic language when he cuts at one side or the other.

Perhaps the most important effect in his decision to remain is that he gives the troubled United Nations a sense of continuity it can cling to while stumbling through its self - created fog.

Laborers' Leaders Phone Shy

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON—There's something very unsocial about the $40,000 to $55,000-a-year leaders of the Laborers' International Union (AFL-CIO).

They don't answer their phones. They don't call back. Messages seem to disappear like money in some of their locals.

Victor Riesel

There appears to be no way for a civilian to get into a dialogue with leaders of this 500,000 member sprawling brotherhood, some of whose locals are involved in the most massive probe ever launched by the federal government in the construction labor field.

Since January 1965, it now can be disclosed, the Justice and Labor Departments have been cooperating in a secret investigation of possible violations of labor laws during the laying of scores of thousands of miles of pipelines.

THESE LINES FEED crude oil and natural gas from Texas and Oklahoma into all parts of the land. The lines crisscross; they double back; they spurt into New England, Michigan, Ohio and points south and west.

Federal probers are roaming the land. FBI and Labor Department enforcement agents are microscoping thousands of union leaders. The government wants to know why the costs are so awesome.

So it will take another six or seven months before the federals have tunneled through the maze of material involved in hundreds of millions of dollars worth of federal and private construction contracts.

As in all such dragnet investigations, there are "break outs." They really are fall-outs—discovery of what appears to be corollary crimes which in turn are investigated.

IN RECENT MONTHS at least five officials or employes of Laborers' International Union locals have been indicted as a result of such break-out probes. Three persons have been convicted in the course of what the government calls its "Pipeline Project" investigation, one of them a Port Huron, Mich., labors' official.

These break outs involve more than a piggy bank ante.

There is, for example, the case of the imaginative champion of the laboring proletariat John Stubin, secretary-treasurer of Laborers Local 158, Harrisburg, Pa. On Oct. 4, 1966, Mr. Stubin was indicted on 24 counts.

The first 19 charged him with embezzling $36,648.80. This, says the government, went on from 1962 to 1964. Other counts charged Stubin had filed false Labor-Management (LM-2) reports for the three years from 1962 to 1964. Count 23 alleges that he unlawfully and willfully failed to maintain records required to be kept. And count 24 simply accuses him of making false entries into union records.

NOW TO THE REASON for my phone calls, which the Laborers' International officials just don't bother to take. What system does the ultra-modern national office here have of auditing or occasionally scanning the books of its locals? What guarantees are there that money collected from laborers seeking work permits are turned over to the proper union authorities?

Why should working men, seeking an honest day's pay for a full day's work, be required to pay fees for working permits anyway?

There have been indictments and convictions of such men along the way from Michigan to New England. What action are the $1,100 and $800-a-week national guardians of the pick-and-shovel proletariat taking to prevent further looting or suspicion of looting?

THERE STILL IS the matter of the International's Local 13, one of whose erstwhile officials, now on the lam, was able to buy himself a $30,000 Rolls-Royce as a status symbol. It took years to get this muscle-ridden local into trusteeship. What now? What of its racket-laden membership?

Shortly after the conviction, the indictment and the exposure, the international had a whooping 15th convention in St. Louis. There was fancy headgear. Vice presidents, whose salary and expenses range from $27,523 to $40,862, and other officials, whose similar incomes are in the $55,000-a-year bracket, were unanimously elected with the hoopla of a 20-piece band.

The octogenarin president Joe Moreschi was given an ovation. If he makes it to the end of his term, he will have been in that august office 45 years.

None of the convention sing-outs were interrupted by discussions of the "break outs." Why? Is this union a law unto itself?

What of the people's money? Does no one care?

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The present snowfall, the wailing fire siren, the welcome letter from afar are gentle reminders for me to once more voice my appreciation of the public servants of Calcutta.

The volunteer firemen who give their leisure hours unstintingly, alert and on call 24 hours a day, to you I say you're a grand brigade.

The road crew out on the job at the first sign of trouble, especially during snow and ice hazards and regardless of the hour, nowhere in my travels have I found a quicker or better service.

To you I say, you're a grand crew.

Truce Or Trick?

By David Lawrence

What If Violations Occur?

While South Viet Nam and allied governments, including the United States, have announced agreement with a Viet Cong proposal of a truce for Christmas and New Year, a big question is unanswered.

What will be done if the truce is violated this time as it was last year?

Most people have forgotten that the 30-hour Christmas truce in December 1965 had been in effect only a little while when seven Viet Cong violations occurred. Gen. Westmoreland then promptly rescinded an order for the extension of the truce.

South Viet Nam and allied forces obeyed the truce, but there were at least 84 violations by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese before it ended, and 12 Americans and 50 South Vietnamese were killed. One of the sneak attacks occurred early Christmas morning.

The State Department at the time commented that the violations were unfortunate. But bombing raids were nevertheless halted until the end of January, for a total of 37 days.

WILL THE United States again go through with the truce and a deferment of bombing, despite violations that may occur?

Instead of waiting for such happenings, it is more logical for an announcement to be made now that, while a truce has been proclaimed, it will be terminated immediately if there are any violations by the other side.

Allied commanders have standing orders to take countermeasures for defense if attacked during a truce, but a specific warning could persuade the Communists that they will gain nothing by violating the truce.

It has been argued that North Viet Nam is unable to control some of its troops in the field. But this makes it even more necessary that the United States take precautions against further casualties that could result from irresponsible action.

It is a temptation, of course, for the North Vietnamese to make attacks when American soldiers are presumably taking the day off to celebrate Christmas. But if it is emphasized in advance that instant resumption of the fighting and bombing will occur, there may be less of an inclination to test out American readiness.

From a military point of view, the agreement to call an eight-day truce may prove to be a mistake.

Leaders in the armed services today are almost unanimous against the proposed action.

It is reasoned that American forces have been putting on pressure for several months now and that the eight-day respite will merely give the enemy a chance to build up its forces and move supplies to bases without fear of attack.

IT IS RECOGNIZED, of course, that there is a sentimental value in arranging a truce for the holiday period, but it becomes meaningless if the adversary continues — as seems likely — to refuse to enter into any peace negotiations.

Every analysis made of last year's truce by military men shows clearly that the advantage is on the side of the Communists.

The whole world will watch carefully the behavior or the Communists in connection with the truce this year. If they violate the truce, they will doubtless claim that orders had been disregarded in the field.

But the decision has been made that the truce will be honored by the forces of the South Viet Nam and their allies, and that the risks are worth taking.

If violations do occur, it might be one way to convince the world that the only logical course to follow thereafter is to pursue the war intensively to a successful conclusion.

U Thant Will Try Again

U Thant, severest critic of the United Nations, because he hasn't been able to make it work, is going to keep trying. He has accepted another term as U.N. secretary-general.

The difference between the secretary-general and other severe critics of the United Nations is that he critizes from the inside and they criticize from the outside.

They revile the United Nations because they say the organization has failed.

U Thant says it has failed because the people who could make it work never have given it a chance. He blames the people.

Critics say, if they are Americans, that the United States should throw out the United Nations and start something better.

U Thant says the United States and the other nations should keep the United Nations because in the present situation no other organization could work any better. He doesn't hold the organization responsible for human failure.

He charges the United States, itself, with bad faith in Viet Nam.

He does this in full knowledge of one fact many critics never have comprehended—that the United Nations was created and has been used from the beginning as an adjunct of the U.S. State Department. It is an essential instrument of U.S. policy.

When World War II ended, the United States resolved that international slaughter had to be and could be ended by cooperative security. There would need to be a reincarnation of the League of Nations, which had been destroyed by the intransigence of governments that refused to act for their mutual protection against the Mussolinis and Hitlers of the '30s.

The United Nations was created to do the job. It is being destroyed by the same thing that destroyed the League and would destroy any other organization dedicated to keep international peace.

Those who rant about its failure are actually ranting about the failure of mankind to rise above the violence and terror that have challenged peacemakers throughout aeons of frustration. In many instances, the ranters literally are indicating themselves for their own failure.

When they cry that there needs to be something better than this mockery of good faith, they are bewailing the nature of mankind.

Would it help to change the name of the United Nations to something else and persuade U Thant, who has had on-the-job training, to run the new outfit under an assumed name?

Of course not.

Men need to be changed—not the United Nations.

Can They Agree To Agree

Republican governors and governors-elect will meet for two days in Colorado Springs beginning Friday Dec. 9.

The record of the Republican Governors Conference is spotty. The idea of a formal association with headquarters in Washington has been abandoned. Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, who has served as association chairman since the organization of the conference five years ago and who called the Colorado meeting, is a loser. He was defeated in the Aug. 2 primary in his bid for a fourth term.

The Republican governors failed in 1964 to halt a drive powered by Capitol Hill to win presidential nomination for Sen. Barry Goldwater.

On the other hand, the Republican governors in 1952 were instrumental in nominating Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower against the greatest name in the Republican party, Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Governors tend to be more moderate than leaders in Congress. So the Colorado conference is expected in its private conversations to line up behind a moderate.

The elections gave Republicans eight new governorships for a total of 25 states, not counting Georgia, where the result is still in doubt. Republican governors will preside over 57.5 per cent of the U.S. population after inaugurations in January.

Both Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, another rather overwhelming reelection victor, on Nov. 21 at a press conference at Dorado, Puerto Rico, pointed toward the Republican governors conference as an opportunity to reach an agreement on programs. The undercurrent of comment was that it would be an opportunity too to reach a more important agreement, however tentative, on a presidential candidate for 1968.

In one view what is going to be decided is whether that many Republican leaders can get together on practical ways to improve their party's prospects of winning the 1968 presidential election, or whether the party is still crippled by the ideological hassle that bemused it in 1964.

An Award Worth Having

Danny Kaye, long a very popular American, now has been further distinguished by his designation as a "Splendid American."

Danny and Edwin O. Reischauer, former U.S. ambassador to Japan, have been so honored for their worldwide efforts to dispel the image of the "ugly American."

Those who have been made sick at heart by observing the "ugly American" in action around the world can best appreciate the importance and value of such a counteracting recognition.

One of the most obvious ways in which Danny strives for one-worldness is his frequent use of entertainers from other lands on his shows. His love for humanity, particularly children, regardless of color or creed, comes across loud and clear through the medium of television.

Danny's projected image of an American is one of the greatest. It is no wonder he was selected for the award by the Thomas A. Dooley Foundation.

There are awards, and there are rewards. But certainly this rewarding award conferred on Danny Kaye and Edwin Reischauer should be among those most coveted and striven for by all of us.

Here's to ever more "Splendid Americans."

Just Too Many People

We now have had an unscheduled and obviously unrehearsed preview of a disaster that could wipe out more life than the nuclear bombs we fear.

An atmospheric condition over the New York City area on Thanksgiving Day trapped the pollutants continuously poured into the air there and threatened to smother the inhabitants. Had it been an ordinary working day, with heavy traffic and full activity, thousands could have died.

It was revealed that New York City exists in fear of this disaster and keeps continuous watch over the degree of pollution, with a view to sounding general alerts if conditions become so dangerous that all combustion and auto traffic may have to be halted.

It was made clear that the people who know what the danger is understand how close to disaster New York City's inhabitants are living and how little room there is for conditions to get worse.

All it would take to precipitate one of the worst mass tragedies of all time would be the right combination of atmospheric conditions.

The only thing saving the city is climatological luck. It is doing nothing to save itself. If its luck runs out, there will be no man-made margin of security.

Will the Thanksgiving Day scare make any difference? Probably not.

The grimmest thing about air pollution in the New York City area is the seeming impossibility of doing anything about it. No one knows how the more than eight million people who live in the city's six boroughs and the millions who live nearby in New Jersey and Connecticut could be kept warm, their refuse burned and their electricity generated without near-lethal air pollution.

There are just too many people crowded into too small a space.

U.N. Gets A Lift

By James Marlow

Twenty-one years ago in San Francisco, when the United Nations was patched together, there was almost a feeling of exhiliration around the world.

Perhaps there could be a new beginning when reason and co-operation would prevail and war at last would be disowned as primitive. History indicated otherwise.

But at least there was a chance. In the 16 years since there have been no wars between major powers, but there have been wars. And the two biggest, Korea and Viet Nam, involved the United States.

Although the statesmen of the two nuclear giants of the world, the United States and the Soviet Union, may claim that reason was the persuasive factor in their ability to avoid a head-on clash, fear was a big element, perhaps the biggest.

THUS, THE United Nations has not been the ideal solution of the world's problems and, in the foreseeable future, there is no reason to think it will be.

But so long as the world's antagonists can meet, argue, dicker and be made just a little self-conscious about reverting to barbarism there is a chance over many years they may achieve a maturity lacking now.

This kind of belief is perhaps the basic reason why U Thant agreed Thursday to stay on another five years as U.N. secretary - general after announcing last Sept. 1 that his first five-year term, ending this year, was his last.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union wanted him to stay. His agreement to do so, and he was under pressure from many other governments to say yes, may have averted U.N. chaos in trying to find a successor.

Thant, 57, a Burmese, has no illusions that the United Nations is the perfect instrument for the salvation of the world, as he made clear in September when he announced he wouldn't serve again.

He particularly denounced the Vietnamese war, calling it cruel and a "reproach to the conscience of humanity." He has proposed three points for a settlement of the war, but they have gotten nowhere.

BY HIMSELF Thant almost surely will work no miracles, since this would be expecting much from an individual in his position in a world in its present condition.

But at least he is earnest, he has balance, he is courageous enough to be critical of the big powers, even though he expresses himself in diplomatic language when he cuts at one side or the other.

Perhaps the most important effect in his decision to remain is that he gives the troubled United Nations a sense of continuity it can cling to while stumbling through its self - created fog.

Laborers' Leaders Phone Shy

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON—There's something very unsocial about the $40,000 to $55,000-a-year leaders of the Laborers' International Union (AFL-CIO).

They don't answer their phones. They don't call back. Messages seem to disappear like money in some of their locals.

Victor Riesel

There appears to be no way for a civilian to get into a dialogue with leaders of this 500,000 member sprawling brotherhood, some of whose locals are involved in the most massive probe ever launched by the federal government in the construction labor field.

Since January 1965, it now can be disclosed, the Justice and Labor Departments have been cooperating in a secret investigation of possible violations of labor laws during the laying of scores of thousands of miles of pipelines.

THESE LINES FEED crude oil and natural gas from Texas and Oklahoma into all parts of the land. The lines crisscross; they double back; they spurt into New England, Michigan, Ohio and points south and west.

Federal probers are roaming the land. FBI and Labor Department enforcement agents are microscoping thousands of union leaders. The government wants to know why the costs are so awesome.

So it will take another six or seven months before the federals have tunneled through the maze of material involved in hundreds of millions of dollars worth of federal and private construction contracts.

As in all such dragnet investigations, there are "break outs." They really are fall-outs—discovery of what appears to be corollary crimes which in turn are investigated.

IN RECENT MONTHS at least five officials or employes of Laborers' International Union locals have been indicted as a result of such break-out probes. Count 23 alleges that he unlawfully and willfully failed to maintain records required to be kept. And count 24 simply accuses him of making false entries into union records.

NOW TO THE REASON for my phone calls, which the Laborers' International officials just don't bother to take. What system does the ultra-modern national office here have of auditing or occasionally scanning the books of its locals? Truce Or Trick?

By David Lawrence

What If Violations Occur?

While South Viet Nam and allied governments, including the United States, have announced agreement with a Viet Cong proposal of a truce for Christmas and New Year, a big question is unanswered.

What will be done if the truce is violated this time as it was last year?

Most people have forgotten that the 30-hour Christmas truce in December 1965 had been in effect only a little while when seven Viet Cong violations occurred. Gen. Westmoreland then promptly rescinded an order for the extension of the truce.

MONESSEN, Pa. (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin swept through a three-story apartment house Friday, killing two young children.

Firemen found the bodies of Larell Dawkins, 4, and his sister, Cirita, 23 months, huddled in a second-floor bedroom. A dozen persons were left homeless by the blaze, first noticed by a neighbor who told firemen he smelled smoke and heard the children screaming.

The children's mother, Mrs. Gloria Dawkins, was shopping at the time, firemen said. She was admitted to Monessen-Charleroi Hospital in a state of shock.

Baseball Executives Aboard Disabled Plane

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A jet airliner carrying Los Angeles Dodger owner Walter O'Malley and California Angel owners Gene Autry and Bob Reynolds was forced to make an emergency landing Friday night at International Airport.

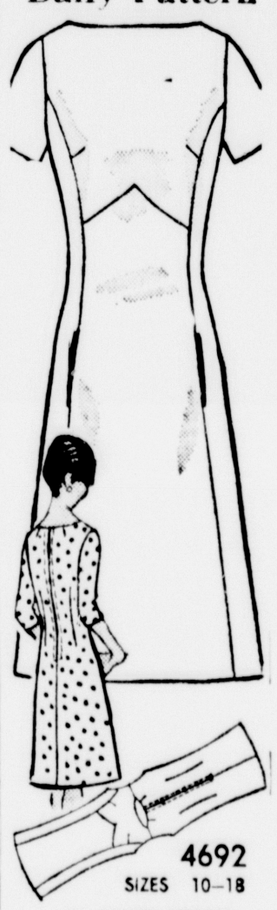

The baseball executives, including Angel manager Bill Rigney, Dodger vice president Red Patterson and Angel vice president Cedric Tallis, were returning from a major league meeting in Pittsburgh.

The airliner's hydraulic system failed, a spokesman said, but a reserve system functioned and the landing was made without incident. No one was injured.

2 Children Perish In Pennsylvania Fire

MONESSEN, Pa. (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin swept through a three-story apartment house Friday, killing two young children.

Firemen found the bodies of Larell Dawkins, 4, and his sister, Cirita, 23 months, huddled in a second-floor bedroom. A dozen persons were left homeless by the blaze, first noticed by a neighbor who told firemen he smelled smoke and heard the children screaming.

Robert Jones, who lives in a first-floor apartment, said he placed a ladder against the window of the Dawkins' apartment but flames prevented him from entering.

The children's mother, Mrs. Gloria Dawkins, was shopping at the time, firemen said. She was admitted to Monessen-Charleroi Hospital in a state of shock.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

How Important Is The Bible? (Part V)

In our article today we would like to emphasize the very important part that the Bible plays in the lives of each of us. In our last article we suggested that the Bible is of great importance to each of us in that it is the only book that can give us a description of the church that Jesus built. Jesus is not the author of all of the division in the religious world. He built only one church. Mt.16:18. However, since there are about 300 different churches in our country, it is important that we have a good description of the church that Jesus built. Otherwise we would not be able to tell the Lord's church from the churches that are existing only by the authority of some man or group of men. The Bible contains the complete description that we need.

As I begin to read the Word of God I will begin at once to see some of the characteristics of the church. It can be seen that the church did not wear the name of some man but rather the name of the Son of God. The church is the bride of Christ. It follows that the bride would wear the name of her husband. Thus we read of Paul referring to the church as the church of Christ. (Rom. 16-16). It would be unbecoming for the bride of Christ to wear the name of some man.

Again, I learn that the Lord's church met on the first day of the week to take of the communion. Acts 20:7. This is the only day that the Lord authorized for the taking of the Lord's Supper.

The early church also gave of their means when they were assembled on the first day of the week. They were told that they were to give as they were prospered on the first day of the week. This is the only way that the Lord's church raised money to carry on the work that God gave it to do. Many of the churches of today have openly rejected this plan. They use suppers, sales, and raffles to provide the money that they need to carry on their work. Does the church of which you are a member take up a collection only on the first day of the week?

There are many other points that could be advanced that would help us to be able to identify the Lord's church. However, we have noted enough to make us aware of the fact that the Bible is of the greatest importance to us. Without it and its description of the Lord's church, we would face an impossible task. That task would be to find the one church that the Lord authorized.

Since the Bible clearly tells us about the church of the Lord, we need not linger on in confusion. We can use the Word of God and find the church which it describes and then become a member of it. Thank God for His great book, the Bible. Study it today.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

How Important Is The Bible? (Part V)

In our article today we would like to emphasize the very important part that the Bible plays in the lives of each of us. In our last article we suggested that the Bible is of great importance to each of us in that it is the only book that can give us a description of the church that Jesus built. Jesus is not the author of all of the division in the religious world. He built only one church. Mt.16:18. However, since there are about 300 different churches in our country, it is important that we have a good description of the church that Jesus built. Otherwise we would not be able to tell the Lord's church from the churches that are existing only by the authority of some man or group of men. The Bible contains the complete description that we need.

As I begin to read the Word of God I will begin at once to see some of the characteristics of the church. It can be seen that the church did not wear the name of some man but rather the name of the Son of God. The church is the bride of Christ. It follows that the bride would wear the name of her husband. Thus we read of Paul referring to the church as the church of Christ (Rom. 16-16). It would be unbecoming for the bride of Christ to wear the name of some man.

Again, I learn that the Lord's church met on the first day of the week to take of the communion. Acts 20:7. This is the only day that the Lord authorized for the taking of the Lord's Supper.

The early church also gave of their means when they were assembled on the first day of the week. They were told that they were to give as they were prospered on the first day of the week. This is the only way that the Lord's church raised money to carry on the work that God gave it to do. Many of the churches of today have openly rejected this plan. They use suppers, sales, and raffles to provide the money that they need to carry on their work. Does the church of which you are a member take up a collection only on the first day of the week?

There are many other points that could be advanced that would help us to be able to identify the Lord's church. However, we have noted enough to make us aware of the fact that the Bible is of the greatest importance to us. Without it and its description of the Lord's church, we would face an impossible task. That task would be to find the one church that the Lord authorized.

Since the Bible clearly tells us about the church of the Lord, we need not linger on in confusion. We can use the Word of God and find the church which it describes and then become a member of it. Thank God for His great book, the Bible. Study it today.

Talks Resume For Solution To Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain and Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia resume their talks today aboard a British cruiser in the Mediterranean, apparently still searching for a solution to the Rhodesian problem.

The two leaders had lengthy discussions Friday trying to thrash out their differences, but there was no word on either the mood or the progress of the talks.

A statement early today from 10 Downing Street, Wilson's official residence, said only: "The talks in HMS Tiger ended at midnight and will resume tomorrow." A Downing Street spokesman said tomorrow, in this instance, meant Saturday.

Wilson and Smith and their advisers boarded the cruiser HMS Tiger at Gibraltar early Friday and sailed eastward into stormy seas for a series of working sessions.

After a day of cruising, the Tiger slipped briefly into Gibraltar's outer harbor Friday night.

No strict time limit has been set for the effort to seek an end to Rhodesia's 13-month-old rebellion. But preparations in Gibraltar appeared to indicate that the two leaders might return home today. Two Britannia aircraft were on standby at Gibraltar airport.

It was known that Wilson hopes to be back at his country residence, Chequers, Sunday night to entertain European free trade area ministers at dinner.

Wilson was reported to have assured a small group of key Labor party legislators a few hours before leaving London that there was no question of Smith's returning to Salisbury to consult with his Cabinet on the terms. It was said Smith had been told he must enter the summit with full power to negotiate and that no further delay would be accepted by Britain.

Because of Smith's isolation at sea — with the only line of communication in Wilson's hands — he cannot be brought under last-minute counterpressure from extremists in his government.

But Wilson also would risk dissension in his Cabinet and Labor party if he falls back from Britain's often-stated terms that the central African colony's 225,000 white Rhodesians guarantee steady progress toward rule by Rhodesia's 4 million Africans. Smith and his white regime defied the crown Nov. 11, 1965, and seized independence rather than accept this.

Wilson has tried since to bring the Smith regime to heel with British-imposed economic sanctions but, with South African help, Rhodesia has managed to thwart the effort.

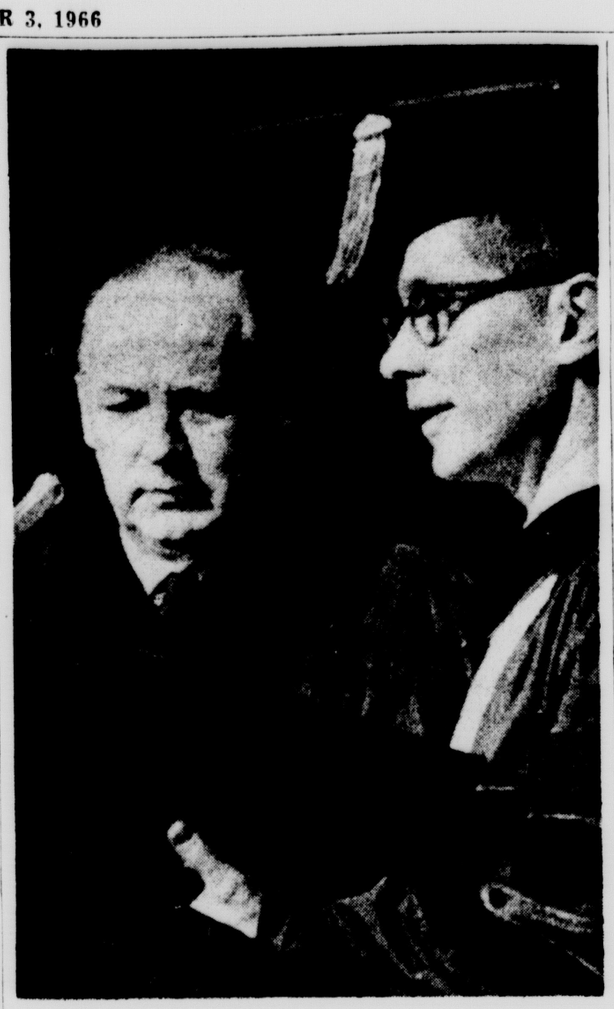

Wilson has warned Smith he will ask the U.N. Security Council for economic sanctions unless a solution is reached before Christmas.

Action Taken At Lisbon In Wellsville, Area Cases

Columbiana County Southwest Court at Lisbon was busy Friday afternoon as five defendants appeared before Judge J. L. MacDonald and a warrant was issued for the arrest of a sixth.

Delvin D. Freshour, 18, of New Cumberland R.D. 1, pleaded guilty to a charge of auto theft and was bound over to Common Pleas Court for grand jury action at the January term.

Wellsville police charged him with taking a car from Koontz Auto Sales, 313 Wells Ave., Wellsville. He is in County Jail at Lisbon in lieu of $1,000 bond.

MRS. LOUISE Melvin of 454 Mulberry St., East Liverpool, pleaded not guilty to a burglary charge and was released on her own recognizance for a preliminary hearing Wednesday.

Her son, Joe Murray, 19, charged in the same offense — a burglary Nov. 23 at Cataldo's TV at 509½ Main St., Wellsville — will be arraigned next Wednesday. He is free under $1,000 bond.

He appeared yesterday, but Charles Lang of East Liverpool, court - appointed counsel for mother and son, said he could not represent Joe because of a conflict of interest with the mother's case. Common Pleas Court then appointed Donald Shay of East Liverpool to represent the youth.

In a related case yesterday, Wellsville police filed an affidavit charging Walter Parsons, 18, of 471 Mulberry St. with receiving and concealing stolen property — phonographs, radios and televisions. He was arrested last night and is in County Jail.

GORDON GOODSON, 31, of Damascus was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Stella Frantum of East Rochester in July 1965, with intent to rob. He is free under $2,500 bond.

The state's witness at the preliminary hearing yesterday was Robert Payne, 38, formerly of Massillon, who was convicted last year of attempting to rob Mrs. Frantum. He pointed to Goodson as his accomplice.

Mrs. Frantum testified at Payne's trial that he and another man tied her to a chair and searched her home. Nothing was taken.

Payne jumped bond while appealing his case and was not located until about three weeks ago. He is in the County Jail awaiting transfer to Ohio Penitentiary to serve a sentence of 1 to 15 years. Goodson was apprehended a few days after Alliance police arrested Payne.

Lester Gilbert Chapman, 20, of 724 Green Ln., East Liverpool, will be arraigned Tuesday on a charge of breaking into Pop's Tavern, Wellsville, early yesterday. Wellsville police brought Chapman into court yesterday afternoon. He is in County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

'Slowdown' In Business Spending Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government predicts a slowdown next year in the rate of growth of business spending for new plants and equipment — a key economic factor certain to be weighed by President Johnson as he ponders the possibility of a tax increase.

Johnson also received Friday a glowing forecast for the nation's economy in 1967. Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said prosperity will continue next year, no recession is in sight and prices should level off.

As Ackley was conferring with Johnson in Texas, the Labor Department reported unemployment in November dipped to 3.7 per cent for the third month this year — the lowest level since 1953 — while total employment climbed to 75 million — higher than any other November.

The Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission predicted plant and equipment spending by business will increase at a rate of 7 per cent in the first half of 1967, compared with the 16.5 per cent rate of growth projected for all of 1966.

The government survey indicated capital spending would be at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $62.6 billion in the final three months of 1966, rising to $63.45 billion for the first quarter of 1967 and to $64 billion in the second quarter.

These figures, which officials have said will be considered by the administration in reaching a decision on a tax increase, are another indication the economy is cooling off.

Talking with newsmen in Austin, Tex., Ackley predicted an easing of inflationary pressures in 1967.

'Of course prosperity will continue. We will have an expanding economy," he said. "I certainly see no reasonable prospect of a recession. We are also looking forward to increasing price stability. We don't expect a repetition of the large increase in farm and food prices we had this year."

The President said Ackley presented him with definite figures that will help in making a decision on a tax increase. "But these may change tomorrow," he said.

Johnson has said he hopes to decide around the first of the year on whether to ask Congress for a tax increase to help finance the Viet Nam war and fight inflation.

If he seeks a tax increase, the first stop for the required legislation would be in the House Ways and Means Committee.

It was disclosed Friday that a behind-the-scenes fight is shaping up over a vital assignment to that committee.

One candidate for the highly prized seat is Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Tex., whose voting record is strongly conservative on fiscal matters. Another likely contender is Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., and another New York Democrat, Rep. Hugh L. Carey, also is reported to have shown interest in the assignment. Murphy and Carey are administration supporters.

The choice of a fiscally liberal or conservative Democrat for the committee post could determine, in some future close vote, whether or not the committee goes along with Johnson.

Five Motorists Fined In Traffic Violations

Brown, 115 Jerome St., Lisbon, passing traffic at hill crest, $15 and costs; Paul Alford Jr., 820 Division St., East Liverpool, parking on highway, $10 and costs; Frank D. Willison, Minerva, driving too fast for road conditions, $10 and costs, and Adeline T. Buzzard, Alliance, driving left of center, $5 and costs.

Robert L. Dailey, 777½ Dresden Ave., East Liverpool, forfeited a $15 appearance bond on a speeding charge.

Lani Bird Satellite Set To Provide More Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Lani Bird, a new U.S. satellite, begins today to provide additional communications service between North America, Hawaii and Japan.

The satellite, owned and operated by the Communications Satellite Corp. was launched Oct. 26. It officially is called Intelsat I, although many Americans, particularly those in Hawaii, call it Lani Bird.

A motor failure caused the satellite to go into a highly elliptical orbit instead of its assigned synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the equatorial Pacific at the international date line.

Because of the unscheduled orbit, the satellite will be available for service only eight to nine hours a day between the U.S. mainland and Hawaii and more than seven hours daily between the mainland and Japan.

Comsat has filed new telephone rates only half as high as they would have been if the satellite had reached its assigned orbit and thus been available for longer transmissions.

Lani Bird also will serve Australia four hours a day when a ground station there is ready.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The retiring coordinator of U.S. efforts to help feed the world's hungry population has appealed for strong leadership in administering a projected multibillion-dollar food assistance program.

"The basic problem now is this — you need a general for the war on hunger," explained Richard W. Reuter, who is resigning at the end of this month as a special State Department assistant coordinating the Food for Peace program.

Talks Resume For Solution To Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain and Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia resume their talks today aboard a British cruiser in the Mediterranean, apparently still searching for a solution to the Rhodesian problem.

The two leaders had lengthy discussions Friday trying to thrash out their differences, but there was no word on either the mood or the progress of the talks.

A statement early today from 10 Downing Street, Wilson's official residence, said only: "The talks in HMS Tiger ended at midnight and will resume tomorrow." A Downing Street spokesman said tomorrow, in this instance, meant Saturday.

Wilson and Smith and their advisers boarded the cruiser HMS Tiger at Gibraltar early Friday and sailed eastward into stormy seas for a series of working sessions.

After a day of cruising, the Tiger slipped briefly into Gibraltar's outer harbor Friday night.

No strict time limit has been set for the effort to seek an end to Rhodesia's 13-month-old rebellion. But preparations in Gibraltar appeared to indicate that the two leaders might return home today. Two Britannia aircraft were on standby at Gibraltar airport.

It was known that Wilson hopes to be back at his country residence, Chequers, Sunday night to entertain European free trade area ministers at dinner.

Wilson was reported to have assured a small group of key Labor party legislators a few hours before leaving London that there was no question of Smith's returning to Salisbury to consult with his Cabinet on the terms. It was said Smith had been told he must enter the summit with full power to negotiate and that no further delay would be accepted by Britain.

Because of Smith's isolation at sea — with the only line of communication in Wilson's hands — he cannot be brought under last-minute counterpressure from extremists in his government.

But Wilson also would risk dissension in his Cabinet and Labor party if he falls back from Britain's often-stated terms that the central African colony's 225,000 white Rhodesians guarantee steady progress toward rule by Rhodesia's 4 million Africans. Smith and his white regime defied the crown Nov. 11, 1965, and seized independence rather than accept this.

Wilson has tried since to bring the Smith regime to heel with British-imposed economic sanctions but, with South African help, Rhodesia has managed to thwart the effort.

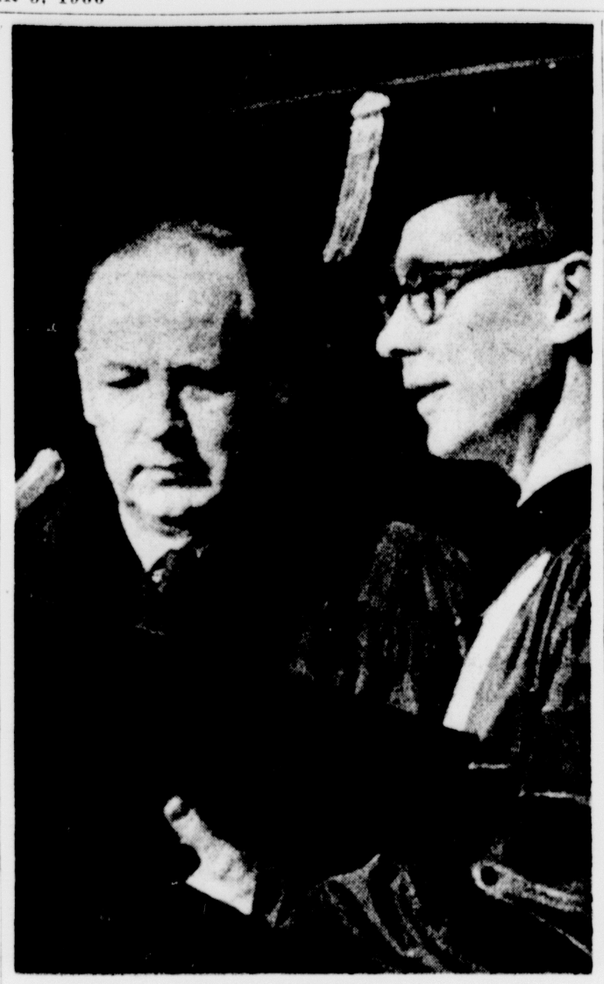

Wilson has warned Smith he will ask the U.N. Security Council for economic sanctions unless a solution is reached before Christmas.

Wednesday Hearing Set In Midland Case

A hearing has been set Wednesday by Charles Anderson, 31, of Stop 9, Smiths Ferry, Willie Coleman 24, and his brother, Leandrew Coleman, 25, both of 324 Ohio Ave., Midland, before Justice of the Peace Stephen Germusa of Midland on charges of disorderly conduct stemming from a Nov. 28 incident in Midland during which Anderson was stabbed.

Police said the fracas occurred at the corner of 5th St. and Beaver Ave. Anderson required hospitalization for five knife wounds in the chest.

All three have been released on their own recognizance.

In Southwest County Court

Action Taken At Lisbon In Wellsville, Area Cases

Columbiana County Southwest Court at Lisbon was busy Friday afternoon as five defendants appeared before Judge J. L. MacDonald and a warrant was issued for the arrest of a sixth.

Delvin D. Freshour, 18, of New Cumberland R.D. 1, pleaded guilty to a charge of auto theft and was bound over to Common Pleas Court for grand jury action at the January term.

Wellsville police charged him with taking a car from Koontz Auto Sales, 313 Wells Ave., Wellsville. He is in County Jail at Lisbon in lieu of $1,000 bond.

MRS. LOUISE Melvin of 454 Mulberry St., East Liverpool, pleaded not guilty to a burglary charge and was released on her own recognizance for a preliminary hearing Wednesday.

Her son, Joe Murray, 19, charged in the same offense — a burglary Nov. 23 at Cataldo's TV at 509½ Main St., Wellsville — will be arraigned next Wednesday. He is free under $1,000 bond.

He appeared yesterday, but Charles Lang of East Liverpool, court - appointed counsel for mother and son, said he could not represent Joe because of a conflict of interest with the mother's case. Common Pleas Court then appointed Donald Shay of East Liverpool to represent the youth.

In a related case yesterday, Wellsville police filed an affidavit charging Walter Parsons, 18, of 471 Mulberry St. with receiving and concealing stolen property — phonographs, radios and televisions. He was arrested last night and is in County Jail.

GORDON GOODSON, 31, of Damascus was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Stella Frantum of East Rochester in July 1965, with intent to rob. He is free under $2,500 bond.

The state's witness at the preliminary hearing yesterday was Robert Payne, 38, formerly of Massillon, who was convicted last year of attempting to rob Mrs. Frantum. He pointed to Goodson as his accomplice.

Mrs. Frantum testified at Payne's trial that he and another man tied her to a chair and searched her home. Nothing was taken.

Payne jumped bond while appealing his case and was not located until about three weeks ago. He is in the County Jail awaiting transfer to Ohio Penitentiary to serve a sentence of 1 to 15 years. Goodson was apprehended a few days after Alliance police arrested Payne.

Lester Gilbert Chapman, 20, of 724 Green Ln., East Liverpool, will be arraigned Tuesday on a charge of breaking into Pop's Tavern, Wellsville, early yesterday. Wellsville police brought Chapman into court yesterday afternoon. He is in County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

College Will Present Medal During Dinner Sunday Night

STEUBENVILLE — Dr. William B. Walsh, founder and president of the world - renowned Project HOPE, will be presented the Poverello Medal Sunday night by the Founders Associates of the College of Steubenville during the annual Founders Day dinner.

Highest non - academic award conferred by the college, it previously has been given to Lions International, The Court of Last Resort, Catherine de Hueck Doherty, Donald H. McGannon, Jonas K. Salk and Associates, Birgit Nilsson, Arthur Rooney and Joe E. Brown, among others.

The Poverello Medal is named in honor of St. Francis of Assisi, who was called "il poverello", (the poor little man) by his neighbors because of his abject personal poverty and his intense love of the poor. It is annually awarded to some group or individual "in recognition of great benefactions to humanity exemplifying in our age the Christ-like spirit of charity which filled the life of St. Francis of Assisi."

Funds realized from the annual Founders Day dinner support the Founders Scholarships of the college. They are awarded to young men and women of academic promise who are in need of financial assistance.

Following the dinner, Dr. Walsh will meet Founders Associates at an informal gathering in Antonian Lounge.

'Slowdown' In Business Spending Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government predicts a slowdown next year in the rate of growth of business spending for new plants and equipment — a key economic factor certain to be weighed by President Johnson as he ponders the possibility of a tax increase.

Johnson also received Friday a glowing forecast for the nation's economy in 1967. Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said prosperity will continue next year, no recession is in sight and prices should level off.

As Ackley was conferring with Johnson in Texas, the Labor Department reported unemployment in November dipped to 3.7 per cent for the third month this year — the lowest level since 1953 — while total employment climbed to 75 million — higher than any other November.

The Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission predicted plant and equipment spending by business will increase at a rate of 7 per cent in the first half of 1967, compared with the 16.5 per cent rate of growth projected for all of 1966.

The government survey indicated capital spending would be at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $62.6 billion in the final three months of 1966, rising to $63.45 billion for the first quarter of 1967 and to $64 billion in the second quarter.

These figures, which officials have said will be considered by the administration in reaching a decision on a tax increase, are another indication the economy is cooling off.

Talking with newsmen in Austin, Tex., Ackley predicted an easing of inflationary pressures in 1967.

'Of course prosperity will continue. We will have an expanding economy," he said. "I certainly see no reasonable prospect of a recession. We are also looking forward to increasing price stability. We don't expect a repetition of the large increase in farm and food prices we had this year."

The President said Ackley presented him with definite figures that will help in making a decision on a tax increase. "But these may change tomorrow," he said.

Johnson has said he hopes to decide around the first of the year on whether to ask Congress for a tax increase to help finance the Viet Nam war and fight inflation.

If he seeks a tax increase, the first stop for the required legislation would be in the House Ways and Means Committee.

It was disclosed Friday that a behind-the-scenes fight is shaping up over a vital assignment to that committee.

One candidate for the highly prized seat is Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Tex., whose voting record is strongly conservative on fiscal matters. Another likely contender is Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., and another New York Democrat, Rep. Hugh L. Carey, also is reported to have shown interest in the assignment. Murphy and Carey are administration supporters.

The choice of a fiscally liberal or conservative Democrat for the committee post could determine, in some future close vote, whether or not the committee goes along with Johnson.

Five Motorists Fined In Traffic Violations

LISBON — Judge J. L. MacDonald fined five drivers Friday in Columbiana County Southwest Court. They were:

Lester W. Safreed, Garfield Rd., Salem, failure to stop for a school bus, $25 and costs ($20 suspended); Richard A. Brown, 115 Jerome St., Lisbon, passing traffic at hill crest, $15 and costs; Paul Alford Jr., 820 Division St., East Liverpool, parking on highway, $10 and costs; Frank D. Willison, Minerva, driving too fast for road conditions, $10 and costs, and Adeline T. Buzzard, Alliance, driving left of center, $5 and costs.

Robert L. Dailey, 777½ Dresden Ave., East Liverpool, forfeited a $15 appearance bond on a speeding charge.

Between America, Hawaii, Japan

Lani Bird Satellite Set To Provide More Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Lani Bird, a new U.S. satellite, begins today to provide additional communications service between North America, Hawaii and Japan.

The satellite, owned and operated by the Communications Satellite Corp. was launched Oct. 26. It officially is called Intelsat I, although many Americans, particularly those in Hawaii, call it Lani Bird.

A motor failure caused the satellite to go into a highly elliptical orbit instead of its assigned synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the equatorial Pacific at the international date line.

Because of the unscheduled orbit, the satellite will be available for service only eight to nine hours a day between the U.S. mainland and Hawaii and more than seven hours daily between the mainland and Japan.

Comsat has filed new telephone rates only half as high as they would have been if the satellite had reached its assigned orbit and thus been available for longer transmissions.

Lani Bird also will serve Australia four hours a day when a ground station there is ready.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The retiring coordinator of U.S. efforts to help feed the world's hungry population has appealed for strong leadership in administering a projected multibillion-dollar food assistance program.

"The basic problem now is this — you need a general for the war on hunger," explained Richard W. Reuter, who is resigning at the end of this month as a special State Department assistant coordinating the Food for Peace program.

The raise will give nurses still working a 20 per cent increase over a two-year period, with an additional 3.6 per cent for each year of service up to four years. They now are making $429 a month.

The nurses who resigned are asking $480 a month, retroactive to Oct. 1, with an increase to $500 a month March 1 and $530 on Dec. 1, 1967.

Well Stacked!

A Giant Casts Its Shadow Over The Countryside In Rising As An Industrial, Tourist Attraction

By HARRY STEWART

A veritable "giant" has been reared in the area with tons of concrete and steel having gone into its construction. And although it may sound like a fairy tale, it grew at the unbelievable rate of a foot an hour.

The "giant" is the huge chimney at the Ohio Edison Co.'s W. H. Sammis Plant at Stratton.

It stands like a silent sentinel guarding the upper reaches of the Ohio River from below Toronto upstream to Wellsville, and engineers who designed the stack say it is the tallest utility chimney in the world.

The towering stack, which rises 850 feet, literally dwarfs its two sisters near by.

The chimney is steel-reinforced concrete and was made by a continuous pour, slip-form method. It was completed late in November.

The concrete was poured into the form, and as it began to harden the form was jacked up to the next level for the next charge of concrete. The forms were moved at the rate of 10 to 12 inches per hour and concrete was poured 24 hours a day.

It required more than 9,000 cubic yards of concrete for the stack, with the chimney growing at an average rate of 24 feet per day.

LIKE ALL GIANTS, it has big feet. In this case, the footer on which the chimney stands.

Engineers say the footer is 10-feet thick. The octagonal base measures 110 feet across. The footer contains an additional 3,600 cubic yard of concrete.

The chimney was raised to the extreme height so as to further reduce the effect of the plant on surrounding air. The chimney will carry the flue gases emitted from the plant into the higher atmosphere to be diluted with the upper air stream and thereby cut down on air pollution.

By comparison, the First National Tower Building in Akron, the headquarters for Ohio Edison, is only 330 feet. The Terminal Tower in Cleveland stands 708 feet, the Carew Tower in Cincinnati 574 feet, the Lincoln-Le Veque Tower in Columbus 555 feet and the Gulf building in Pittsburgh 582 feet.

The stack is more than half as tall as the Empire State building in New York City, which stands 1,250 feet, and is taller than the Washington Monument, just over 555 feet.

The new stack is part of Ohio Edison's 100 million power generating project at Stratton, which is progressing on schedule.

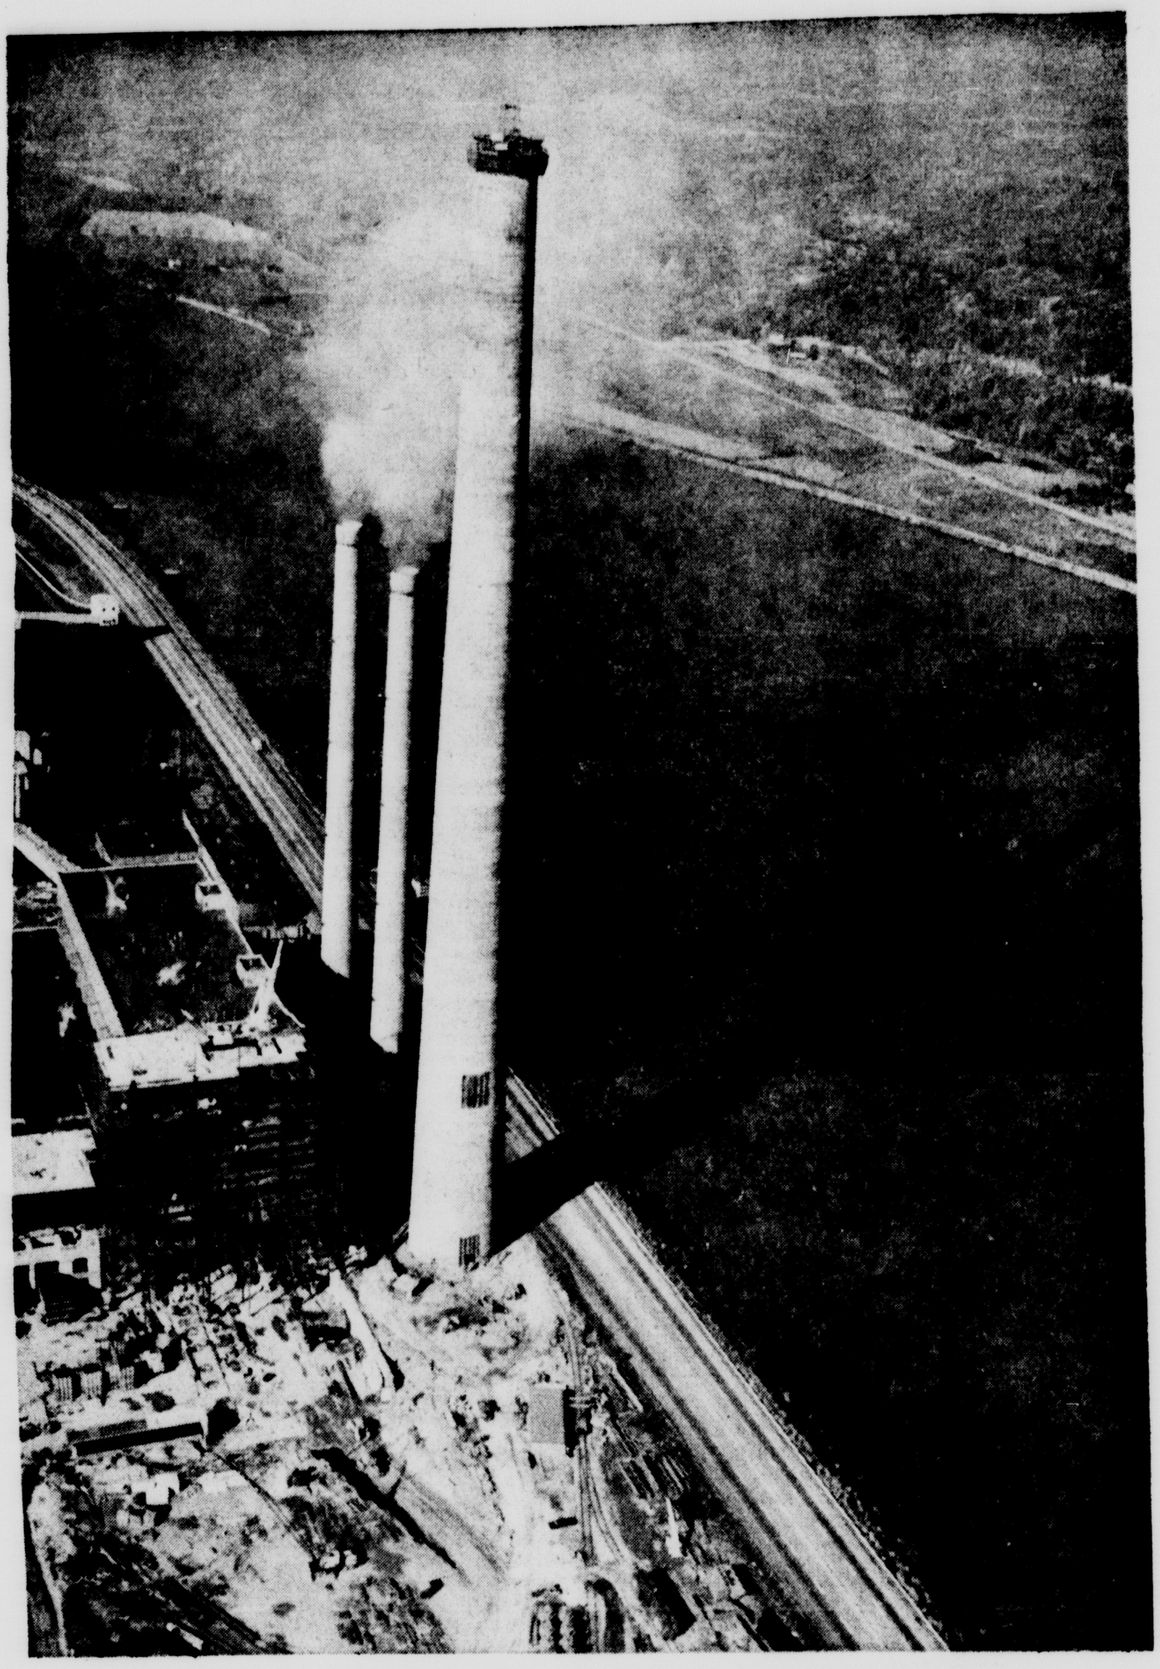

Two steam-electric generators, one of 300,000 kilowatts capability and the other of 600,000 kilowatts, are being added to the already 706,000-kilowatt plant.

Upon completion of the two units, the plant is expected to be the largest in Ohio. The 300,000-kilowatt No. 5 unit is scheduled for operation in October 1967 and the 600,000-kilowatt No. 6 unit is to be in operation by the fall of 1968. The latter unit is being built under a joint power agreement with the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., which is installing a similar unit, scheduled for 1970 operation, under the same agreement.

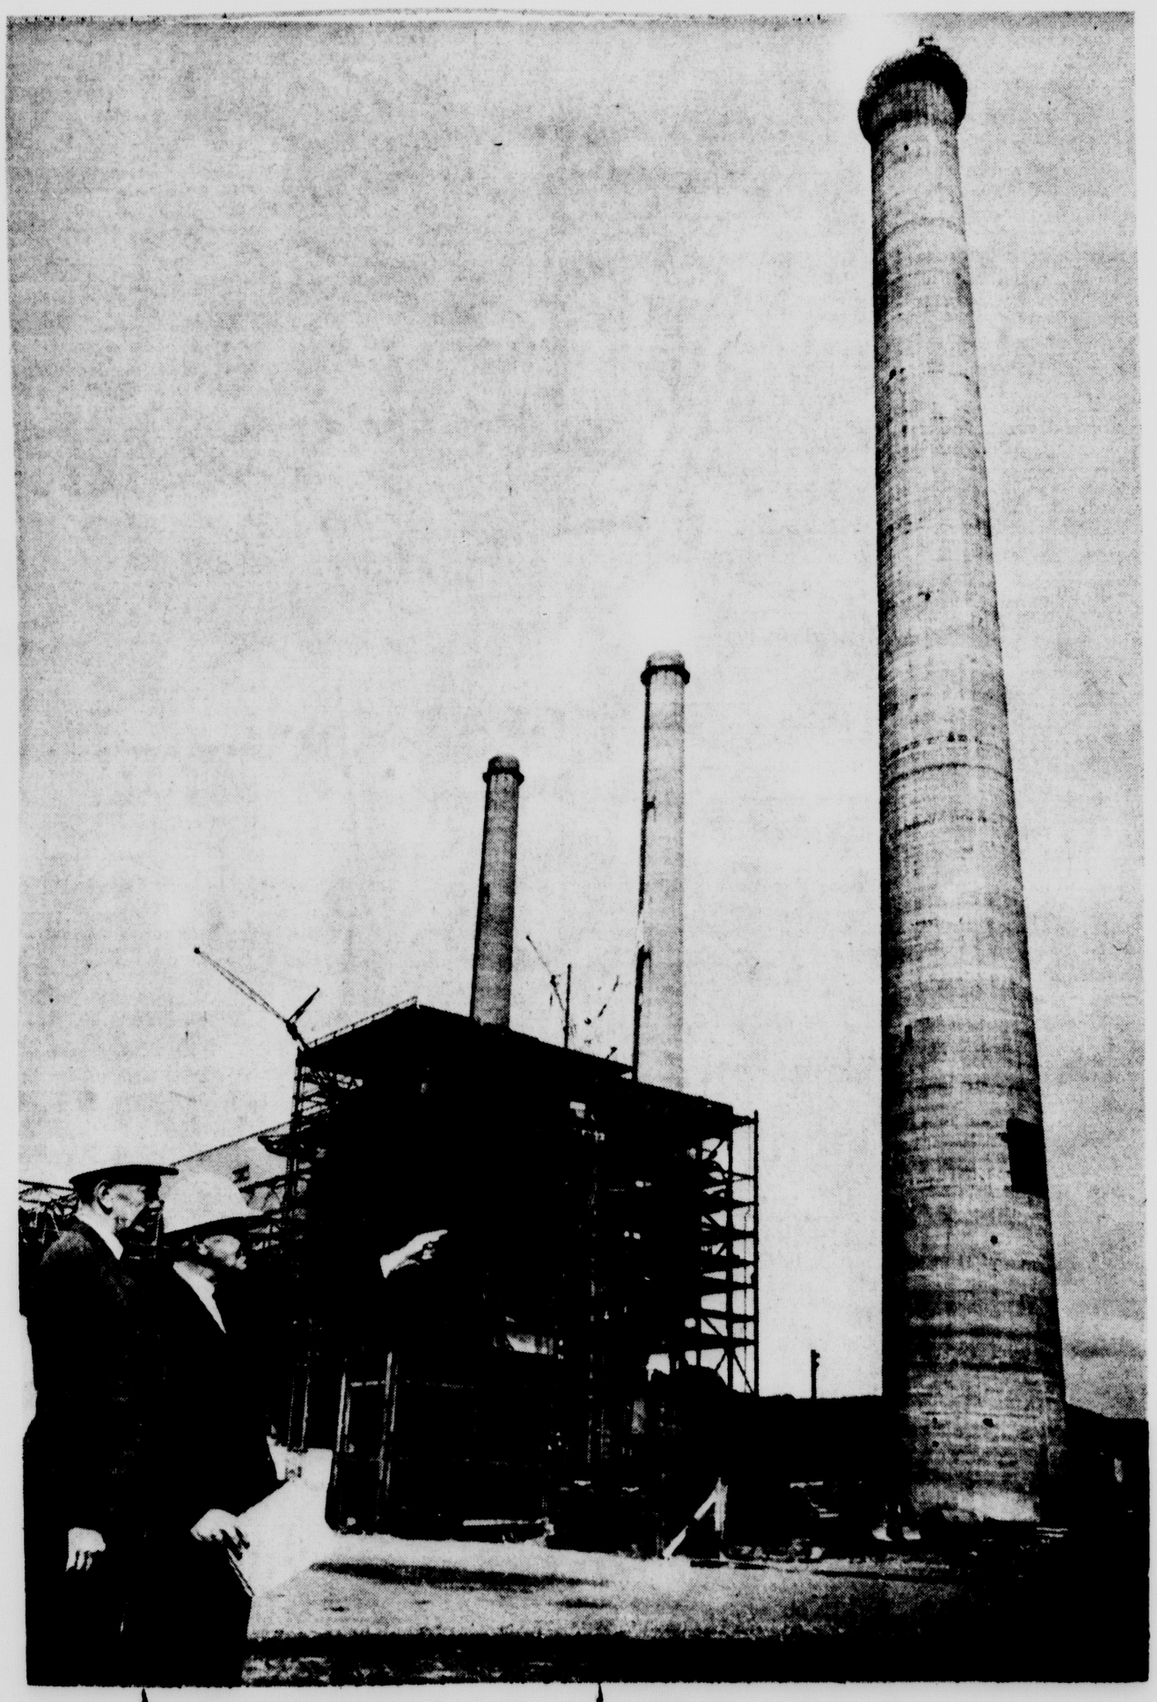

THE HUGE NEW generating units, costing less in capital cost per kilowatt than smaller units and designed to operate at a lower cost per kilowatt hour generated, should contribute toward offsetting escalating prices for coal and higher labor costs which are creating problems in the utility's effort to keep the price of electricity down. The new generating plant additions represent an important step in this effort, company officials pointed out.

An interesting and significent feature of the plant is the electro-static dust collector which is designed to remove 99 per cent of the fly ash or powdery residue in the flue gasses discharged from the boilers. This method is as effective as any yet devised for the collection of such dust particles. And in the case of the new Sammis units, represents an expenditure of over $1 million.

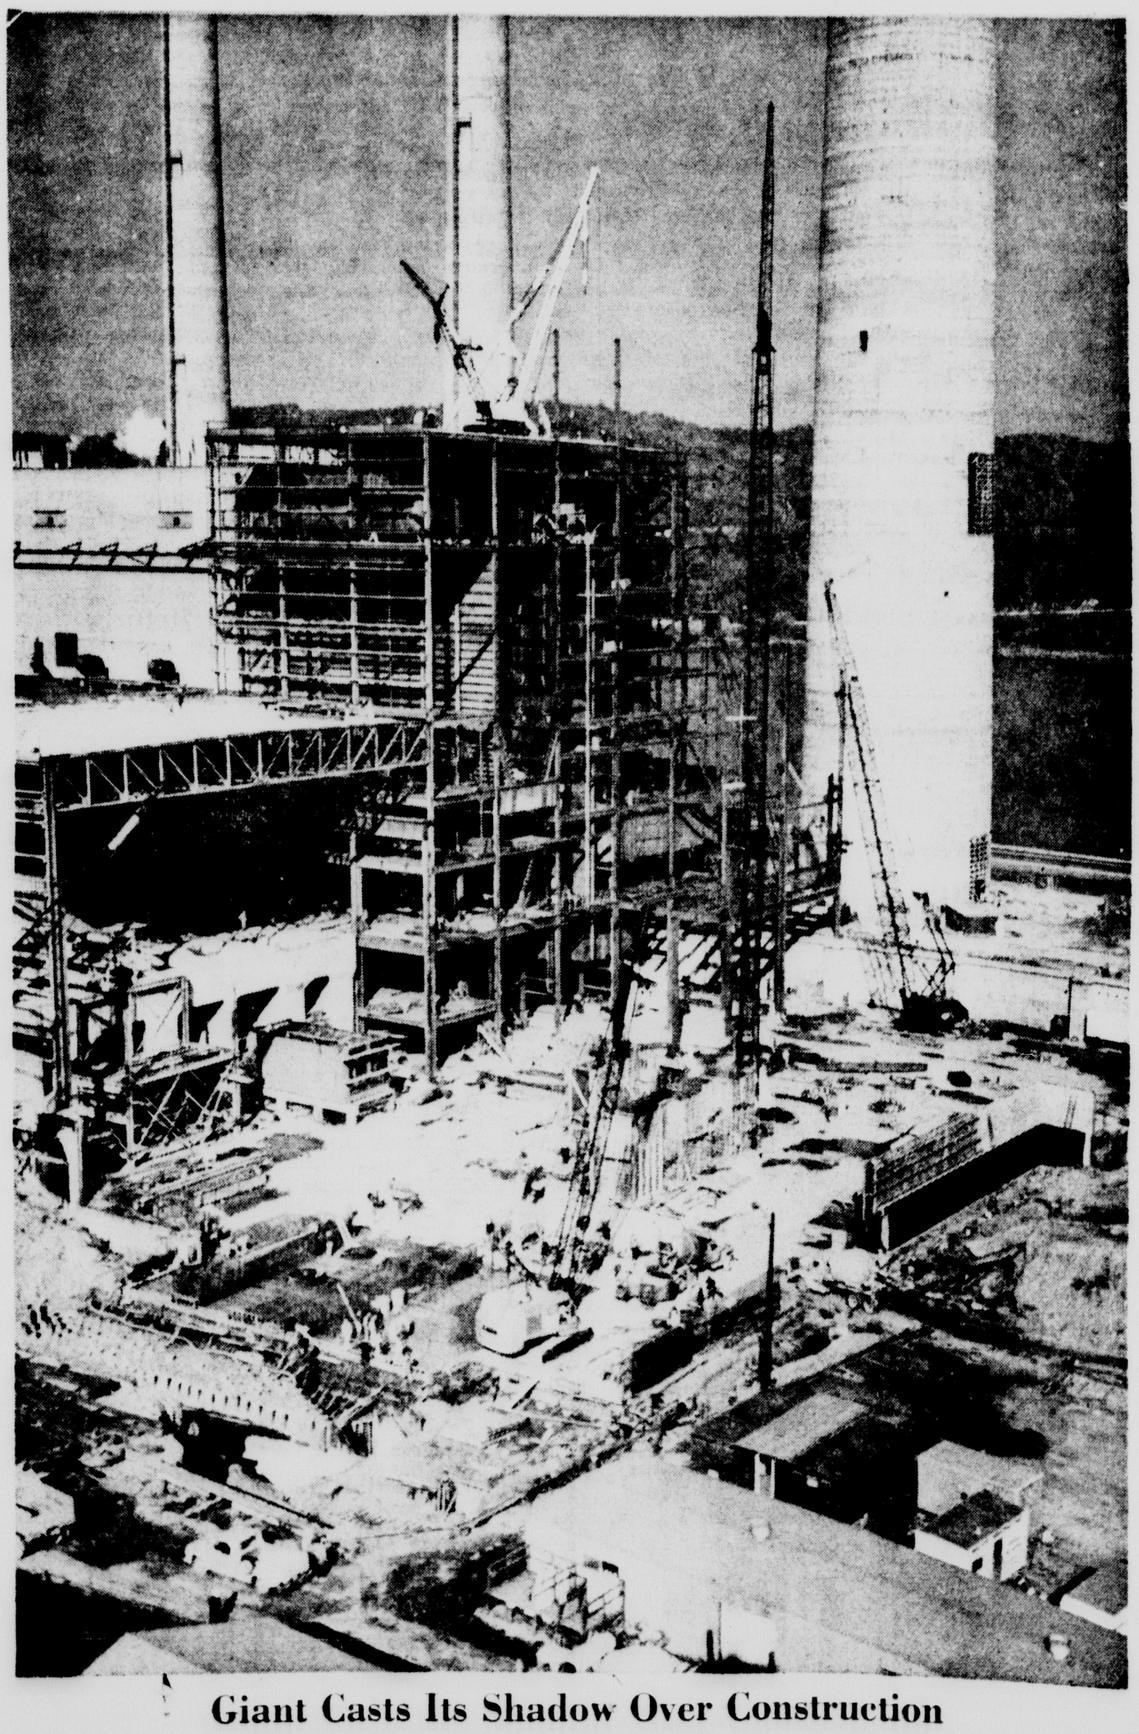

The area long has boasted of many notable historic and scenic spots and now it has added a man-made point of interest. If your neck becomes strained attempting to see the top of the chimney, you can always relax by watching the boats lock through the super-dam just across the highway.

Outdoor Notes

By HARRY STEWART
Review Staff Member

Deer hunting has drawn the most attention this week in the outdoor world.

Hunters in Pennsylvania the first two days were plagued with bad weather. It rained the opening day and the weather was mild. By Tuesday it was snowing and the accumulation made the going very rough.

Those I have talked with say the snow was wet and heavy. It stuck to the boots and quickly soaked through clothing.

Many who only had one or two days to hunt returned disappointed, blaming the weather for not getting a buck.

It seems the deer hunters got all the snow the bear hunters were hoping for the previous week.

HERE IN COLUMBIANA County, deer season closed yesterday. By Thursday six hunters had registered kills with Ralph Drake, county game protector.

Cy Wellman, deputy sheriff, shot a buck, while the largest bagged was by Paul Thiesing of Pleasant Hill, Miami County.

In all, the deer hunting has been slow, although there are more deer in the county this year than in past seasons.

NUMEROUS COMPLAINTS were registered this week with Drake from land owners about the unsportsmanlike conduct of hunters.

Hunting without permission, refusal to get off private property, shooting close to buildings, shooting close to where other hunters are located, etc., are among them.

It takes but a few hunters to ruin the sport for others Once a property owner has had an experience with an individual who refuses to abide by the rules, it means the end of hunting also for those who are deserving of the name "sportsman."

Some owners will allow rabbits or squirrel to be hunted on their land, but ask that no deer be shot. Others will allow deer hunting, but don't want the other animals bothered.

Along comes someone carrying a gun, which he apparently thinks identifies his as a hunter, and decides the owner has no right to say what will or will not be hunted.

The amount of land open to hunting is growing smaller each year as cities and towns expand, so the hunters themselves suffer when more farmers post their land against trespassers.

It usually doesn't matter what you say to an individual who refuses to use good judgment or obey the laws: If they are going to break the law, they will do it regardless.

Therefore, much of it is left up to you and me. We must cooperate with the game protectors and law enforcement agencies. We must be willing to report and testify against violators. We must be willing to take the side of the farm and land owner against trespassers. We must be willing to defend our own rights.

The next time you see a violation being performed, report it. Be willing to lose a little time to help in an investigation. In the end, you and all other sportsmen will benefit greatly.

The name "sportsman" is something you have to earn. It doesn't come easily. You must work for it.

WHERE DID THE birds hide? Who knows?

The state has released a total of 250 pheasants in Columbiana County to date. This is almost double the number released last year.

Half were turned loose at Highland and the others at Zepernick Lake.

The releases were made three different times, the day before Thanksgiving.

I hunted at Highlandtown Thanksgiving morning, but never saw a bird. I did shoot one rabbit, however, and the party I was with jumped three rabbits and a grouse.

One other hunter had a pheasant and another said he had seen one. Within the next two or three days I received numerous telephone calls at the office and at home from hunters wanting to know if the pheasants actually were released.

Yes, they were. Where they were hiding is another question.

I tried and didn't have any luck, so I would like to know just as much as the next fellow.

I checked game officials and was assured the birds were turned loose and then was given the possible answer to the mystery.

It seems that although the pheasants are released from the cages into the fields, they immediately head for the nearest woods. They will remain in the woods for two, three or four days before venturing into the fields to feed very heavily. This seems to be the nature of pheasants raised in pens.

So the next time you hunt an area shortly after birds are released, try the woods.

Surprisingly, hunters have been scoring well on pheasants at Zepernick. They did well at Highlandtown the opening day, but after that it wasn't good.

So give Highlandtown a try again. The birds probably are still there.

As to the other big question about the lack of rabbits, I haven't heard a logical answer. Some are getting them, others aren't.

AN EAST END MAN, Clarence Steffl of 1244 Pennsylvania Ave., has come up with a new way to hunt—from horseback.

Clarence asked if it was legal to hunt groundhogs or rabbits from horseback, and I wasn't sure.

I checked with the game warden and was told that there is no rule against it. As long as you have permission to hunt on private property, it is permissable.

On state land there are areas where horses are not allowed, and it would be illegal on this basis. Also, in some areas you cannot use a rifle, only a shotgun.

Clarence says he has a horse which is broken to the sound of a gun and does not shy when one is fired. It might be an interesting sport, riding along the creek bottoms, enjoying the scenery, and getting in some hunting at the same time.

Hunters in western states hunt bear and deer from horseback, so why not rabbits and groundhogs?

THE EARLY SNOW brought a rash of requests for information on bird feeding. If you are interested in attracting birds to your locality you will want Publication W-37," "Attracting Birds in Ohio." It contains illustrations showing how to build various types of birdhouses, shelters and feeding stations.

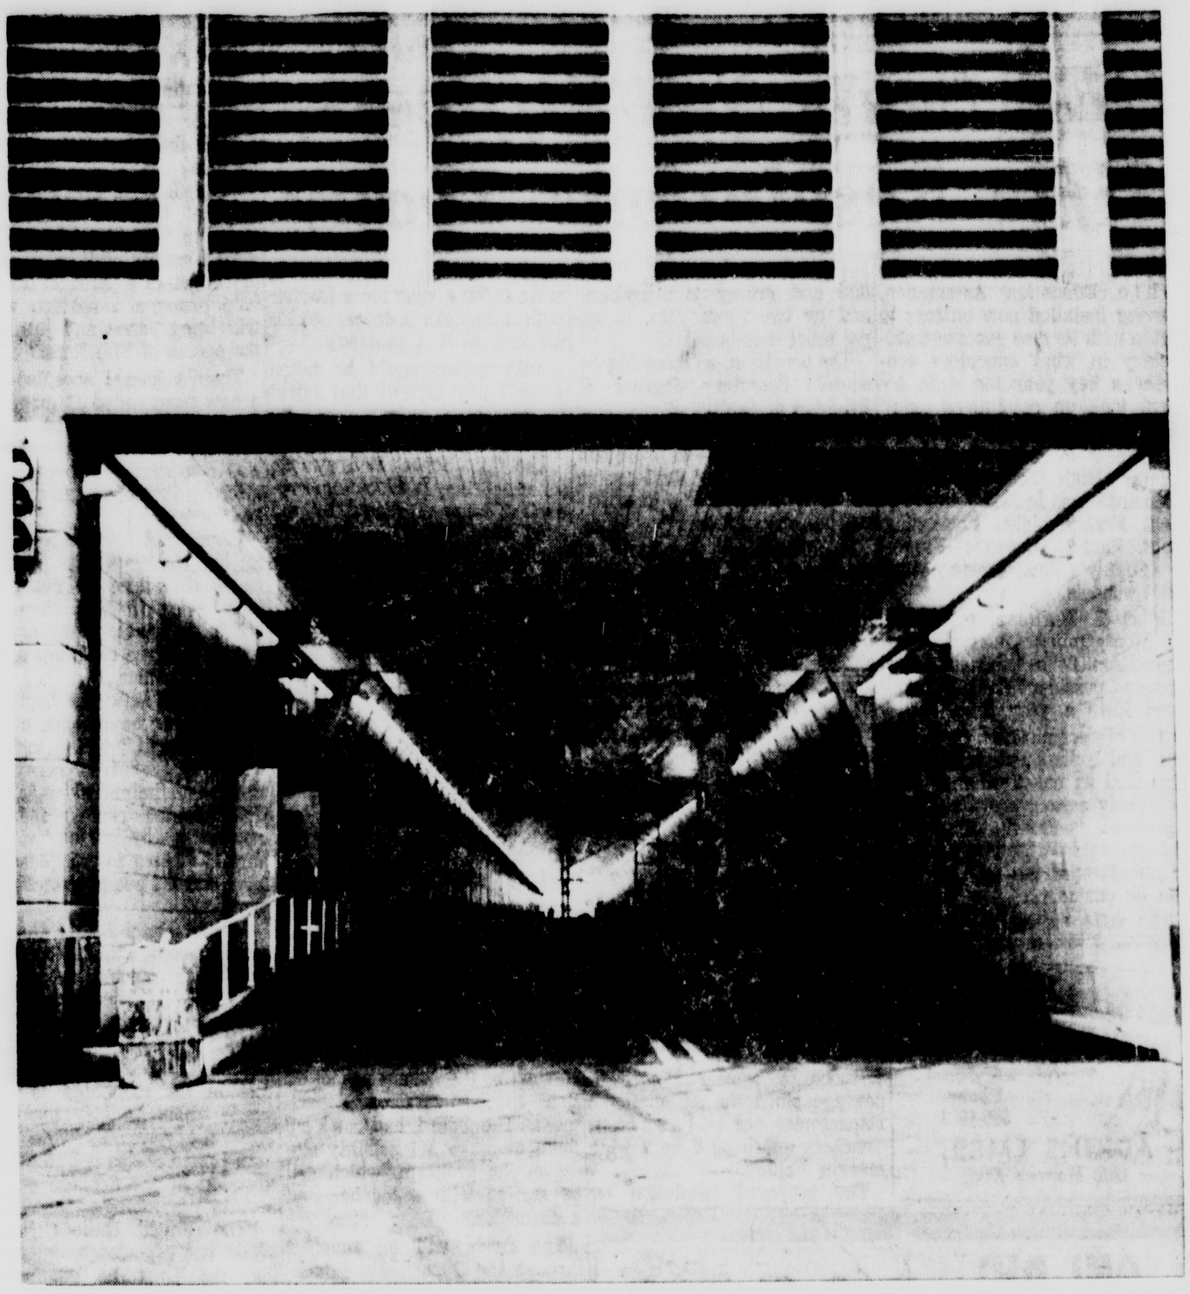

A free copy of this illustrated publication may be obtained by sending a self-addressed stamped business envelope to Publications, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus, 43212.

Contents thus can never squirt

Thousands squeeze on either side—
A fact that cannot be denied —

But beware that heartless geezer,

He grasps the tube in steely grip—
Oft does not remove the tip —
Then with gloating glee and waste
Covers everything with paste.

Exert your pressure with precision.
Treat your toothpaste with affection—
Do not dent the center section.

Toothpaste tubes may be a guide

Hostile feelings—vague unease —
Oft are mirrored by the squeeze.

End men of the world unite,
Join the cause, fight the fight;
From serried ranks of toothpaste users—
Ban malicious tube abusers!

Say I'm happy, say I'm sad,
Say I'm somewhat left of center;
Say I'm growing old, but add
I am not a middle denter!

The Law

'Tis the season to be jolly—again. With this season also comes the annual surge—buying of presents for placing under the Christmas tree.

Many of the items purchased will be placed on an "easy payment plan," a "few dollars a month plan," or financed through a loan company or bank. Too often, it's during this "jolly season" that the shopper overextends his financial resources and forgets to obtain some of the necessary papers.

TO THOSE who are going to make installment purchases, we offer the following advice:

1.—Read every paper you are asked to sign when making the purchase.

2.—Don't sign any paper which has blank spaces on it. Every space should be properly filled in before you sign.

3.—Compare the total charges with the "cash" price. In some stores, a "few dollars a month plan" may cost 1 per cent per month on the unpaid balance, or up to 21 per cent per year.

4.—Don't rely on sales talk regarding any guarantees or "good points" about the item you are purchasing. Get it in writing if you want to enforce any such guarantee.

A PROMISSORY note, conditional sales contract or other form of security agreement you sign probably will contain a clause known as a cognovit note. This clause permits a judgment to be rendered against you when the note becomes due and payable. This judgment may be rendered without your being served with any summons or given any notice. This clause protects the seller or loan maker by guaranteeing that your obligation to him will be paid.

The security agreement you sign must contain the following details: The price, down payment, cost of insurance (if any), finance charges, balance due under the contract and details as to the payments. Once you have a copy of this and have signed it — it's yours and the law generally presumes that you know what it contains.

Or Why The Dinner Ordeal?

Since time immemorial music has filled the air!

It has been inspirational in time of war, heart-rending in time of love, morale-lifting in depression—but most of all it has been just plain enjoyable in time of relaxation.

But why in the world does it have to be foisted on us collectively at so many public occasions?

Such occasions at their best are boring in most cases. They become even more boring when the master of ceremonies announces that "Joe Blow will now lead us in group singing of some of our old-time favorites."

Well and good if Joe Blow wants to sing. More power to him. Let him pour forth his melodious tones to the fullest.

But why include us poor unfortunates who weren't blessed with pleasing voices? The Perry Comos and the Robert Goulets are few and far between at the average luncheon and dinner meeting. And, most agonizing of all, such raising of voices in unison merely serves to drag on a meeting which has been dragging to begin with.

The average person isn't concerned whether someone puts on an old gray bonnet and goes up to Dover, wherever that might be; what if ol' man river does keep rolling along or if Johnny comes marching home; if somebody wants to work on a railroad all day, that's his misfortune; if the hills of home are so appealing, let the song leader go climb 'em!

April showers may bring May flowers, but they also bring a lot of mud and other grief; if someone feels that snow up to your neck is a wonderland, let them feel that way!

We say bring on the beans and forget about the music; Let's get the torture over with and get out. Why add to the misery by turning loose a golden-throated, jovial baritone who seems to enjoy inflicting himself on his less talented brethren.

At the end of the meeting, possibly a few rousing bars of "Little Brown Jug We Love Thee"—but make it snappy!

Outdoor Notes

By HARRY STEWART
Review Staff Member

Deer hunting has drawn the most attention this week in the outdoor world.

Hunters in Pennsylvania the first two days were plagued with bad weather. It rained the opening day and the weather was mild. By Tuesday it was snowing and the accumulation made the going very rough.

Those I have talked with say the snow was wet and heavy. It stuck to the boots and quickly soaked through clothing.

Many who only had one or two days to hunt returned disappointed, blaming the weather for not getting a buck.

It seems the deer hunters got all the snow the bear hunters were hoping for the previous week.

HERE IN COLUMBIANA County, deer season closed yesterday. By Thursday six hunters had registered kills with Ralph Drake, county game protector.

Cy Wellman, deputy sheriff, shot a buck, while the largest bagged was by Paul Thiesing of Pleasant Hill, Miami County.

In all, the deer hunting has been slow, although there are more deer in the county this year than in past seasons.

NUMEROUS COMPLAINTS were registered this week with Drake from land owners about the unsportsmanlike conduct of hunters.

Hunting without permission, refusal to get off private property, shooting close to buildings, shooting close to where other hunters are located, etc., are among them.

It takes but a few hunters to ruin the sport for others. Once a property owner has had an experience with an individual who refuses to abide by the rules, it means the end of hunting also for those who are deserving of the name "sportsman."

Some owners will allow rabbits or squirrel to be hunted on their land, but ask that no deer be shot. Others will allow deer hunting, but don't want the other animals bothered.

Along comes someone carrying a gun, which he apparently thinks identifies his as a hunter, and decides the owner has no right to say what will or will not be hunted.

The amount of land open to hunting is growing smaller each year as cities and towns expand, so the hunters themselves suffer when more farmers post their land against trespassers.

It usually doesn't matter what you say to an individual who refuses to use good judgment or obey the laws: If they are going to break the law, they will do it regardless.

Therefore, much of it is left up to you and me. We must cooperate with the game protectors and law enforcement agencies. We must be willing to report and testify against violators. We must be willing to take the side of the farm and land owner against trespassers. We must be willing to defend our own rights.

The next time you see a violation being performed, report it. Be willing to lose a little time to help in an investigation. In the end, you and all other sportsmen will benefit greatly.

The name "sportsman" is something you have to earn. It doesn't come easily. You must work for it.

WHERE DID THE birds hide? Who knows?

The state has released a total of 250 pheasants in Columbiana County to date. This is almost double the number released last year.

Half were turned loose at Highland and the others at Zepernick Lake.

The releases were made three different times, the day before Thanksgiving.

I hunted at Highlandtown Thanksgiving morning, but never saw a bird. I did shoot one rabbit, however, and the party I was with jumped three rabbits and a grouse.

One other hunter had a pheasant and another said he had seen one. Within the next two or three days I received numerous telephone calls at the office and at home from hunters wanting to know if the pheasants actually were released.

Yes, they were. Where they were hiding is another question.

I tried and didn't have any luck, so I would like to know just as much as the next fellow.

I checked game officials and was assured the birds were turned loose and then was given the possible answer to the mystery.

It seems that although the pheasants are released from the cages into the fields, they immediately head for the nearest woods. They will remain in the woods for two, three or four days before venturing into the fields to feed very heavily. This seems to be the nature of pheasants raised in pens.

So the next time you hunt an area shortly after birds are released, try the woods.

Surprisingly, hunters have been scoring well on pheasants at Zepernick. They did well at Highlandtown the opening day, but after that it wasn't good.

So give Highlandtown a try again. The birds probably are still there.

As to the other big question about the lack of rabbits, I haven't heard a logical answer. Some are getting them, others aren't.

AN EAST END MAN, Clarence Steffl of 1244 Pennsylvania Ave., has come up with a new way to hunt—from horseback.

Clarence asked if it was legal to hunt groundhogs or rabbits from horseback, and I wasn't sure.

I checked with the game warden and was told that there is no rule against it. As long as you have permission to hunt on private property, it is permissable.

On state land there are areas where horses are not allowed, and it would be illegal on this basis. Also, in some areas you cannot use a rifle, only a shotgun.

Clarence says he has a horse which is broken to the sound of a gun and does not shy when one is fired. It might be an interesting sport, riding along the creek bottoms, enjoying the scenery, and getting in some hunting at the same time.

Hunters in western states hunt bear and deer from horseback, so why not rabbits and groundhogs?

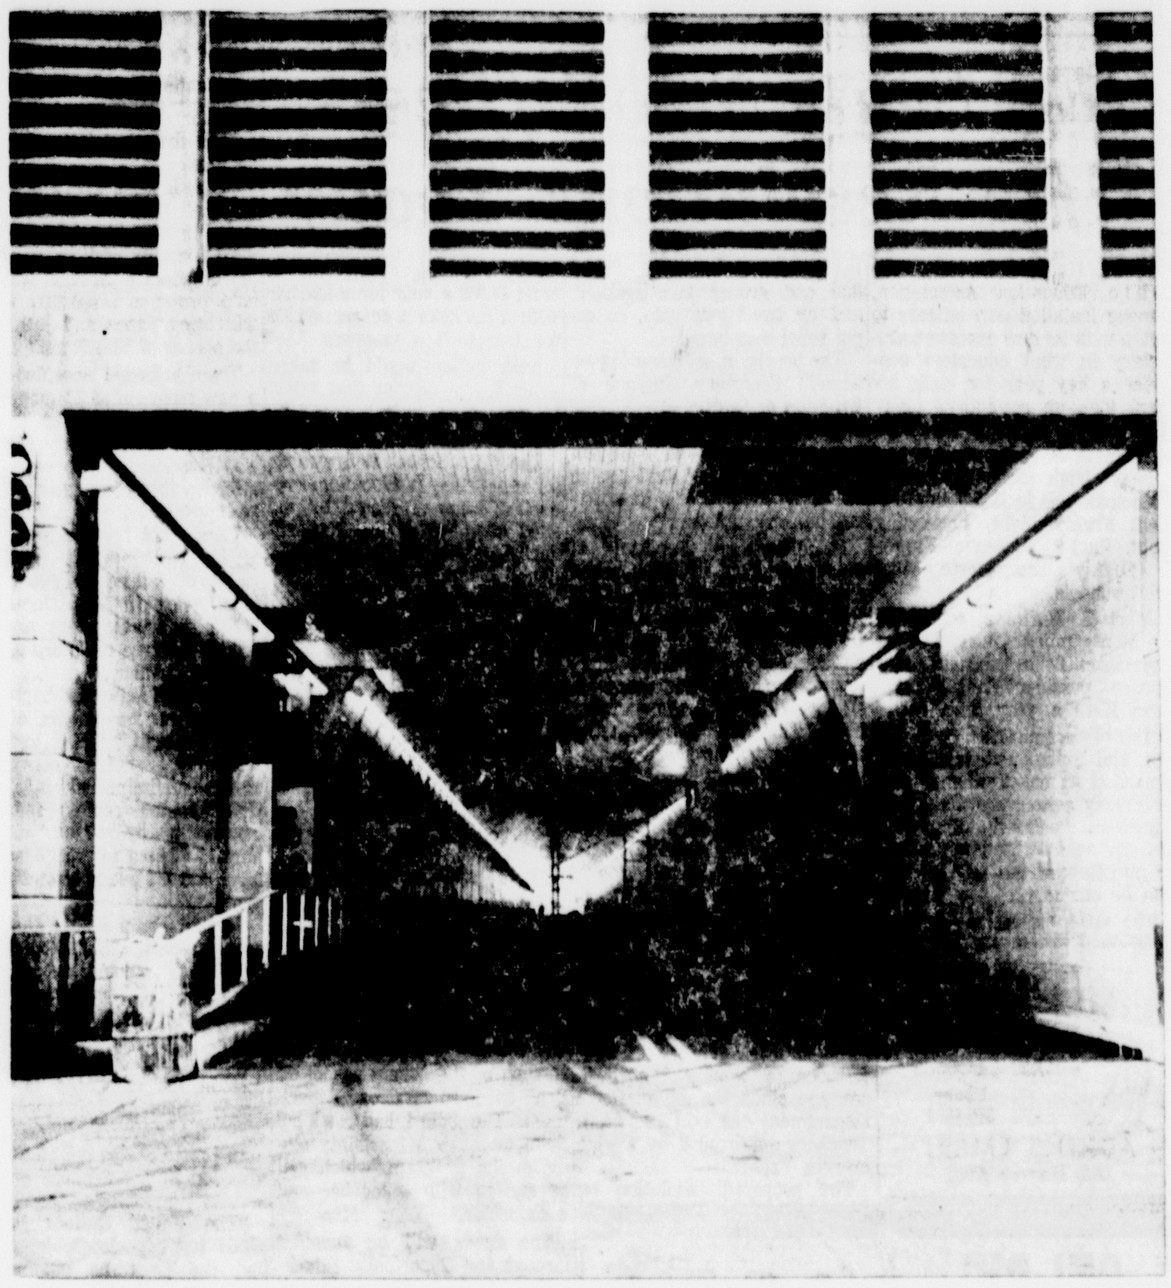

THE EARLY SNOW brought a rash of requests for information on bird feeding. If you are interested in attracting birds to your locality you will want Publication W-37, "Attracting Birds in Ohio." It contains illustrations showing how to build various types of birdhouses, shelters and feeding stations.

A free copy of this illustrated publication may be obtained by sending a self-addressed stamped business envelope to Publications, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus, 43212.

OEA Seats New Officers, Sifts Resolutions Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Education Association, having installed new officers to team with its new executive secretary in what educators consider a key year for state action, took up resolutions today carrying the threat of sanctions.

Kenneth P. Kate, Canton McKinley High School assistant principal, was installed as president Friday night, succeeding Supt. Paul C. Hayes of Franklin County's South-Western District schools.

Murl E. Huffman, a teacher in Montgomery County's West Carrollton School System, was chosen president-elect to succeed Kate a year from now.

The big organization of teachers and school administrators amended its constitution in other Friday action, providing that members "actively supporting activity against the constitutional purposes of the association" can be ousted.

The OEA executive committee is now empowered, "after due and proper investigation" and by two-thirds vote, to expel rebel members.

The provision, as incoming executive Secretary Stayner F. Brighton of Seattle, Wash., said earlier in this week's convention, is designed to "prevent people from using dual (union vs. OEA) membership to undercut our organization."

It follows on the heels of teacher strikes in Youngstown and Hubbard in which Ohio Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) chapters were pitted against the OEA in an effort to become bargaining agent for all teachers in the affected districts. The OEA has taken the stand that teachers are professionals and deplored the strikes.

The resolutions to be voted upon today included ones to level sanctions against the state in case the new general assembly does not drastically increase school aid and against any school districts failing to adopt by the 1967-67 school year a minimum salary scheduled as specified by the OEA.

The move to blacklist Ohio in event heavier school aid isn't forthcoming appeared sure of passage since the association's Department of Classroom Teachers approved it by a wide margin Friday.

The proposed resolution on salary minimums calls for at least $5,000 a year for a teacher with a bachelor's degree, $5,500 for one with a master's.

OEA action would be taken against any district that failed to guarantee such a scale by next school year.

The Ohio School Bell awards for excellence in educational reporting were presented by the Ohio chapters of the National School Public Relations Association.

Winners included:

Daily newspaper, big city—Dayton Journal Herald.

Daily newspaper, under 50,000 circulation—Hamilton Journal-News, accepted by Education writer James Newton.

Education Plan To Be Launched At Jail In Beaver

The Beaver County Prison Board Friday approved the establishment of a basic education program at the County Jail.

Members heard a report from Dr. Richard Myers and Gerald Newton of the county school office special services department. The board had asked them to make a feasibility study on the program, which will be staffed with a teacher and a counselor.

The funds will be supplied through the Opportunity Education Act. Classes should begin in four to six weeks, depending on when necessary equipment arrives.

In other business, the board agreed to send prisoners who become seriously ill to a state hospital for treatment. Previously local facilities had been employed.

sary for meaningful talks to be held in the quest for a peaceful solution?

"I shall seize every occasion to recall that this war must be ended and I will continue to regard it as my duty to make every effort on a personal basis to help promote a solution which will bring peace and justice to the people of Viet Nam."

Thant's formal acceptance of a new term ended 11 months of uncertainty brought on by his statement last January that he was considering stepping down after his first term ran out Nov. 3.

Thant said he felt frustrated in his $65,000-a-year post because of failure to get peace talks going in Viet Nam, the U.N.'s financial plight and its failure to agree on future peacekeeping methods.

"Although little has happened to brighten the outlook of the months ahead," Thant told the Assembly, "My conviction stands undiminished that the United Nations remains the best instrument by which nations may cooperate for the development and the peace of their people."

Several hours before the Assembly acted, Thant accepted a unanimous recommendation of the 15-nation Security Council that he serve another term.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, who had played a key role in the campaign to persuade Thant to stay on, said after the Assembly vote that "the United States is immensely gratified at the decision of the secretary-general."

"The United Nations sorely needs his experience, integrity and the trust he commands from the entire membership of the organization," he said.

Willshaw Solves Judge's Problem Of Water Supply

Mayor George E. Willshaw, thinking quickly, came up Friday afternoon with his own solution for a problem that has plagued Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff for seven years — no hot water in the restroom off the judge's chamber.

With the temperature hanging at 16 degrees and his hands stinging from the cold water he had just used for a quick rinse, the judge decided to explain his problem to the mayor again.

He telephoned the mayor and pointed out the tap in his restroom has not produced any hot water since he took office in January 1960. The mayor listened solicitously and then said:

"The janitor will be right up to take care of it."

A few minutes later, George Fone, custodian, walked into the office with a half - gallon can full of hot water. It was hardly the solution the judge had in mind, but he admitted the mayor had made good on his promise and had his own little joke at the same time.

The judge said later he learned the hot water tank at City Hall has such a small capacity that the water always is chilled by the time it finds its way through the pipes four floors below.

Clerk Thinks Couple Took Dress At Store

A three - piece pink dress valued at $90 reported missing Friday afternoon at the D. M. Ogilvie & Co. department store is believed to have been taken by a couple seen in the dress department earlier.

A clerk had called a store official after noticing a large bulge under the man's coat when the couple left. The man, wearing a dark blue overcoat, was about 50, and the woman, with light hair worn high on her head, in her late 20's.

The report was timed at 2:40 by Patrolman William Devon.

Speaker Urges Action On Fluoridation Here

Dr. M. A. Alpern, dentist, called for a city ordinance providing for the use of fluoridation in East Liverpool's water system during a talk Friday at the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club in the Travelers Hotel.

He said the city has lagged behind several communities in the immediate area and larger cities throughout the U.S. in employing sodium fluoride, credited with reducing dental caries, "because of politicians being influenced by a public misunderstanding regarding fluoridation."

Sodium fluoride, like many medicines and drugs, may be harmful if taken in large doses, he explained, but the quantity used in a fluoridation program equals only one part per million.

THE VALUE of fluoride as a tooth decay preventive was discovered in a research project which grew from a study in 1939 revealing that dental caries were much less prevalent in certain areas of the country than in others, Dr. Alpern recounted.

It was learned that a correlation existed between the presence of natural fluoride in water and the reduced number of cavities in teeth. And in 1942 a controlled experiment in artificial fluoridation was conducted.

No health problems or hazards were detected as a result of the use of the compound, and today 45 million people in the U.S. use fluoridated water, the speaker noted.

Among large cities employing fluoridation are New York City, Chicago, San Francisco, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Detroit and Pittsburgh.

Communities in the East Liverpool area which adopted fluoridation 10 or more years ago are Chester, Lisbon and Salem. Pughtown also began the use of fluoride recently, Dr. Alpern added.

Records have indicated a marked decrease in dental cavities in communities where the compound is in use, the speaker observed.

More than 12,000 studies have been made by various agencies on the subject, with states having differing regulations on the implementation of fluoride, he demonstrated.

THE MATTER of water fluoridation, Dr. Alpern said, has previously been brought up before City Council after being submitted to Water Board and Health Department officials for their approval, but no action has been taken.

"I hate to see anything as good as this let go, and it's a crime that people won't take advantage of it. Fluoridation is economical and safe," the dentist commented.

He estimated an initial cost of $2,000 for the system and a subsequent charge of only 7 or 8 cents per year per person in the community.

Fred Kane was program chairman.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor gave the invocation.

Ed Shingler, president, announced that a board meeting will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex.

U.S. Public Health Service evacuation teams were stationed at selected road blocks, the AEC said, "to assure orderly and speedy evacuation of the downwind sector up to five miles from the site in the unlikely event that small amounts of radioactive materials are accidentally released."

Road blocks also were established at key points around the detonation site to prevent accidental entry into the test area.

The shot was specifically designed to test further the theory of "decoupling." That is the concept that an underground nuclear detonation can be made to appear much less powerful than it actually is, or perhaps even be completely concealed by exploding it within a cavity, rather than within a relatively solid mass of earth, rocks or salt.

Previous "decoupling" tests conducted with conventional, non-nuclear high explosives have indicated that explosions conducted that way may appear to have anywhere from 100 to 300 times less explosive power than they actually have.

150 Evacuated When Fire Hits In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A general alarm fire has hit an apartment complex in the city's Oakland section for the second time in two months.

Some 150 tennants were evacuated Friday as fire engulfed the roof of the 160-unit Saybrook Apartments. No injuries were reported.

Damage was estimated at $65,000 to the five-story, brick structure first damaged by fire Oct. 8.

An elderly tennant lost his life in the first blaze which caused damages estimated at $150,000. A teenage boy was charged with arson after residents told police they saw a boy throw matches into a rubbish pile.

Four men working in the burned-out section reported Friday's blaze.

Kenneth P. Kate, Canton McKinley High School assistant principal, was installed as president Friday night, succeeding Supt. Paul C. Hayes of Franklin County's South-Western District schools.

Murl E. Huffman, a teacher in Montgomery County's West Carrollton School System, was chosen president-elect to succeed Kate a year from now.

The big organization of teachers and school administrators amended its constitution in other Friday action, providing that members "actively supporting activity against the constitutional purposes of the association" can be ousted.

The OEA executive committee is now empowered, "after due and proper investigation" and by two-thirds vote, to expel rebel members.

The provision, as incoming executive Secretary Stayner F. Brighton of Seattle, Wash., said earlier in this week's convention, is designed to "prevent people from using dual (union vs. OEA) membership to undercut our organization."

It follows on the heels of teacher strikes in Youngstown and Hubbard in which Ohio Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) chapters were pitted against the OEA in an effort to become bargaining agent for all teachers in the affected districts. The OEA has taken the stand that teachers are professionals and deplored the strikes.

The resolutions to be voted upon today included ones to level sanctions against the state in case the new general assembly does not drastically increase school aid and against any school districts failing to adopt by the 1967-67 school year a minimum salary scheduled as specified by the OEA.

The move to blacklist Ohio in event heavier school aid isn't forthcoming appeared sure of passage since the association's Department of Classroom Teachers approved it by a wide margin Friday.

The proposed resolution on salary minimums calls for at least $5,000 a year for a teacher with a bachelor's degree, $5,500 for one with a master's.

OEA action would be taken against any district that failed to guarantee such a scale by next school year.

Education Plan To Be Launched At Jail In Beaver

The Beaver County Prison Board Friday approved the establishment of a basic education program at the County Jail.

Members heard a report from Dr. Richard Myers and Gerald Newton of the county school office special services department. The board had asked them to make a feasibility study on the program, which will be staffed with a teacher and a counselor.

The funds will be supplied through the Opportunity Education Act. Classes should begin in four to six weeks, depending on when necessary equipment arrives.

In other business, the board agreed to send prisoners who become seriously ill to a state hospital for treatment. Previously local facilities had been employed.

sary for meaningful talks to be held in the quest for a peaceful solution?

"I shall seize every occasion to recall that this war must be ended and I will continue to regard it as my duty to make every effort on a personal basis to help promote a solution which will bring peace and justice to the people of Viet Nam."

Thant's formal acceptance of a new term ended 11 months of uncertainty brought on by his statement last January that he was considering stepping down after his first term ran out Nov. 3.

Thant said he felt frustrated in his $65,000-a-year post because of failure to get peace talks going in Viet Nam, the U.N.'s financial plight and its failure to agree on future peacekeeping methods.

"Although little has happened to brighten the outlook of the months ahead," Thant told the Assembly, "My conviction stands undiminished that the United Nations remains the best instrument by which nations may cooperate for the development and the peace of their people."

Several hours before the Assembly acted, Thant accepted a unanimous recommendation of the 15-nation Security Council that he serve another term.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, who had played a key role in the campaign to persuade Thant to stay on, said after the Assembly vote that "the United States is immensely gratified at the decision of the secretary-general."

"The United Nations sorely needs his experience, integrity and the trust he commands from the entire membership of the organization," he said.

Willshaw Solves Judge's Problem Of Water Supply

Mayor George E. Willshaw, thinking quickly, came up Friday afternoon with his own solution for a problem that has plagued Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff for seven years — no hot water in the restroom off the judge's chamber.

With the temperature hanging at 16 degrees and his hands stinging from the cold water he had just used for a quick rinse, the judge decided to explain his problem to the mayor again.

He telephoned the mayor and pointed out the tap in his restroom has not produced any hot water since he took office in January 1960. The mayor listened solicitously and then said:

"The janitor will be right up to take care of it."

A few minutes later, George Fone, custodian, walked into the office with a half - gallon can full of hot water. It was hardly the solution the judge had in mind, but he admitted the mayor had made good on his promise and had his own little joke at the same time.

The judge said later he learned the hot water tank at City Hall has such a small capacity that the water always is chilled by the time it finds its way through the pipes four floors below.

Clerk Thinks Couple Took Dress At Store

A three - piece pink dress valued at $90 reported missing Friday afternoon at the D. M. Ogilvie & Co. department store is believed to have been taken by a couple seen in the dress department earlier.

A clerk had called a store official after noticing a large bulge under the man's coat when the couple left. The man, wearing a dark blue overcoat, was about 50, and the woman, with light hair worn high on her head, in her late 20's.

The report was timed at 2:40 by Patrolman William Devon.

Speaker Urges Action On Fluoridation Here

Dr. M. A. Alpern, dentist, called for a city ordinance providing for the use of fluoridation in East Liverpool's water system during a talk Friday at the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club in the Travelers Hotel.

He said the city has lagged behind several communities in the immediate area and larger cities throughout the U.S. in employing sodium fluoride, credited with reducing dental caries, "because of politicians being influenced by a public misunderstanding regarding fluoridation."

Sodium fluoride, like many medicines and drugs, may be harmful if taken in large doses, he explained, but the quantity used in a fluoridation program equals only one part per million.

THE VALUE of fluoride as a tooth decay preventive was discovered in a research project which grew from a study in 1939 revealing that dental caries were much less prevalent in certain areas of the country than in others, Dr. Alpern recounted.

It was learned that a correlation existed between the presence of natural fluoride in water and the reduced number of cavities in teeth. And in 1942 a controlled experiment in artificial fluoridation was conducted.

No health problems or hazards were detected as a result of the use of the compound, and today 45 million people in the U.S. use fluoridated water, the speaker noted.

Among large cities employing fluoridation are New York City, Chicago, San Francisco, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Detroit and Pittsburgh.

Communities in the East Liverpool area which adopted fluoridation 10 or more years ago are Chester, Lisbon and Salem. Pughtown also began the use of fluoride recently, Dr. Alpern added.

Records have indicated a marked decrease in dental cavities in communities where the compound is in use, the speaker observed.

More than 12,000 studies have been made by various agencies on the subject, with states having differing regulations on the implementation of fluoride, he demonstrated.

THE MATTER of water fluoridation, Dr. Alpern said, has previously been brought up before City Council after being submitted to Water Board and Health Department officials for their approval, but no action has been taken.

"I hate to see anything as good as this let go, and it's a crime that people won't take advantage of it. Fluoridation is economical and safe," the dentist commented.

He estimated an initial cost of $2,000 for the system and a subsequent charge of only 7 or 8 cents per year per person in the community.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor gave the invocation.

Ed Shingler, president, announced that a board meeting will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex.

U.S. Public Health Service evacuation teams were stationed at selected road blocks, the AEC said, "to assure orderly and speedy evacuation of the downwind sector up to five miles from the site in the unlikely event that small amounts of radioactive materials are accidentally released."

Road blocks also were established at key points around the detonation site to prevent accidental entry into the test area.

The shot was specifically designed to test further the theory of "decoupling." That is the concept that an underground nuclear detonation can be made to appear much less powerful than it actually is, or perhaps even be completely concealed by exploding it within a cavity, rather than within a relatively solid mass of earth, rocks or salt.

Previous "decoupling" tests conducted with conventional, non-nuclear high explosives have indicated that explosions conducted that way may appear to have anywhere from 100 to 300 times less explosive power than they actually have.

Alabama Aiming For Perfect Mark

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Sports fans across the nation, as well as a capacity crowd at Birmingham's Legion Field, will be watching today as undefeated Alabama battles rival Auburn for a perfect season and an outside chance for the national football championship.

If defending national champion Alabama wins, the team currently ranked No. 3 behind Notre Dame and Michigan State will share the Southeastern Conference crown with Georgia. The Crimson Tide would also take a clean slate into the Sugar Bowl against once-beaten Nebraska.

Since returning to Alabama as coach in 1958, Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's teams have beaten Auburn six times and lost twice.

An Auburn victory would give Coach Ralph (Shug) Jordan's Tigers an escape from the first losing season in 14 years.

"I'd rather win the championship of Alabama than of the nation," Bryant said preceding the game. He continued, "and, yes you can say we'll be glad to win by one point."

But the Crimson will have to be more impressive than that for even a chance at over hauling Notre Dame and Michigan State.

Coach Jordan takes his Tigers into the battle with four victories against five losses, but with three weeks of preparation for the game "behind closed doors."

In the only other games on the college football schedule, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State clash at Stillwater and Utah is at Houston.

The Sooners are ending their first season under Coach Jim MacKenzie and a victory would give them a 7-3 overall record and a tie with Colorado for second place in the Big Eight. An Oklahoma State victory would give the Cowboys a tie with Missouri for third in the league. Nebraska has clinched the conference title.

A Houston victory would tie the school's best season record of 8-2. Quarterback Bo Burris, ending his career for the Cougars, holds about every school passing record and needs 13 completions to break the season mark in that department. Utah, 4-5, started the season well but then dropped three games in a row.

Pirates, Steelers OK New Stadium

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A new design for a municipal sports stadium has been approved by the stadium's future tennants—the Pittsburgh Pirate baseball team and the Pittsburgh Steeler football team.

The Pirates had objected to some features in the original plans, but a stadium authority spokesman said Friday the new design met with approval.

Senior Leads 77-69 Win

Coach Lloyd Stockdale of Beaver Local High School must have known something when he said earlier this week that returning letterman Bill Barnhart was going to pace his team. Friday night the 6-3 senior broke a school scoring record with 38 points as he led the Fighting Beavers to a 77-69 win over Western Beaver.

—:—

BARNHART hit for 17 field goals on 25 attempts which translates into a fine 68 per cent average. He also accounted for a quartet of free throw points.

The game as a whole, though, was no piece of cake for the locals. They were behind at the end of the third and first quarters and tied at the half. The score was 66-66 with 1:40 left in the game when Mike Piatt, Don Lyle and Dennis Klembara found the mark often enough to make the victory decisive.

IN THE fourth quarter Coach Stockdale called for a "box and chase" defense which uses a four man zone with the fifth boy aimed at Clarence Andrews, Western Beaver's major threat. Andrews scored 25 points any way and Lacey hit for 20.

It was Beaver Local's first game while the Golden Beavers are 0-4 on the young season.

Beaver Local returns to action tonight at Wellsville in a Buckeye Border Conference game.

Goddard's Goal Decisive In Southern Local's Win

Gene Goddard's field goal from 20 feet out in the last six seconds gave Southern Local a 59-58 thriller Friday night at Jefferson Union.

Buffalo, Boston Clash For Title

By RON RAPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Once again, it's Boston and Buffalo in the big one.

For the third time in four years, a Patriot-Bill clash figures to decide the American Football League's Eastern Division title. With it comes the right to play Western Division champ Kansas City to see who will have a chance at all those Super Bowl dollars with the NFL champ in Los Angeles come January.

The first big Boston vs. Buffalo game was in 1963 in the only playoff in AFL history after each club had finished with a 7-6-1 record. Boston won 26-8. But the next year, Jackie Kemp led the Bills to a 24-14 victory over the Patriots and then to their first league title over San Diego.

Last year, the Bills won the title again, but the Patriots were never in contention. Now, Buffalo, with an 8-3-1 mark, is in good position to win in the East again. A victory over Boston, 6-3-2 would help matters considerably.

Boston won the first meeting between the clubs in October, 20-10, when the Bills couldn't score until midway through the third period.

But since then, the Bills have been working on a five-game winning streak, during which time they have scored about five times as many points as they have allowed.

Jim Nance, already the leading rusher for an AFL season, leads the Boston attack, while Kemp, throwing well of late, sparks Buffalo.

The San Diego Chargers, eliminated from the Western Division race last Sunday, take on the Houston Oilers while the Denver Broncos host Miami in Sunday's other games. New York and Oakland played this afternoon.

Don Trull, George Blanda's back-up man until recently, will quarterback the Oilers, whose Charlie Frazier shares the league touchdown lead at 10 with Alworth.

Rookie quarterback Max Choboian has guided the Broncos to two victories in their last three starts and linebacker John Bramlett has developed into one of the league's top defenders.

The Dolphins, whose victory over Denver last month was their first in AFL play, have quarterback problems, but fullback Cookie Gilchrist will be anxious to shine against his former Denver teammates.

The bird that stays constantly on the wing longer than any other is the chimney swift.

Alabama Aiming For Perfect Mark

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Sports fans across the nation, as well as a capacity crowd at Birmingham's Legion Field, will be watching today as undefeated Alabama battles rival Auburn for a perfect season and an outside chance for the national football championship.

If defending national champion Alabama wins, the team currently ranked No. 3 behind Notre Dame and Michigan State will share the Southeastern Conference crown with Georgia. The Crimson Tide would also take a clean slate into the Sugar Bowl against once-beaten Nebraska.

Since returning to Alabama as coach in 1958, Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's teams have beaten Auburn six times and lost twice.

An Auburn victory would give Coach Ralph (Shug) Jordan's Tigers an escape from the first losing season in 14 years.

"I'd rather win the championship of Alabama than of the nation," Bryant said preceding the game. He continued, "and, yes you can say we'll be glad to win by one point."

But the Crimson will have to be more impressive than that for even a chance at over hauling Notre Dame and Michigan State.

Coach Jordan takes his Tigers into the battle with four victories against five losses, but with three weeks of preparation for the game "behind closed doors."

In the only other games on the college football schedule, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State clash at Stillwater and Utah is at Houston.

The Sooners are ending their first season under Coach Jim MacKenzie and a victory would give them a 7-3 overall record and a tie with Colorado for second place in the Big Eight. An Oklahoma State victory would give the Cowboys a tie with Missouri for third in the league. Nebraska has clinched the conference title.

A Houston victory would tie the school's best season record of 8-2. Quarterback Bo Burris, ending his career for the Cougars, holds about every school passing record and needs 13 completions to break the season mark in that department. Utah, 4-5, started the season well but then dropped three games in a row.

Pirates, Steelers OK New Stadium

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A new design for a municipal sports stadium has been approved by the stadium's future tennants—the Pittsburgh Pirate baseball team and the Pittsburgh Steeler football team.

The Pirates had objected to some features in the original plans, but a stadium authority spokesman said Friday the new design met with approval.

Senior Leads 77-69 Win

Coach Lloyd Stockdale of Beaver Local High School must have known something when he said earlier this week that returning letterman Bill Barnhart was going to pace his team. Friday night the 6-3 senior broke a school scoring record with 38 points as he led the Fighting Beavers to a 77-69 win over Western Beaver.

—:—

BARNHART hit for 17 field goals on 25 attempts which translates into a fine 68 per cent average. He also accounted for a quartet of free throw points.

The game as a whole, though, was no piece of cake for the locals. They were behind at the end of the third and first quarters and tied at the half. The score was 66-66 with 1:40 left in the game when Mike Piatt, Don Lyle and Dennis Klembara found the mark often enough to make the victory decisive.

IN THE fourth quarter Coach Stockdale called for a "box and chase" defense which uses a four man zone with the fifth boy aimed at Clarence Andrews, Western Beaver's major threat. Andrews scored 25 points any way and Lacey hit for 20.

It was Beaver Local's first game while the Golden Beavers are 0-4 on the young season.

Buffalo, Boston Clash For Title

By RON RAPOPORT

Once again, it's Boston and Buffalo in the big one.

For the third time in four years, a Patriot-Bill clash figures to decide the American Football League's Eastern Division title. With it comes the right to play Western Division champ Kansas City to see who will have a chance at all those Super Bowl dollars with the NFL champ in Los Angeles come January.

The first big Boston vs. Buffalo game was in 1963 in the only playoff in AFL history after each club had finished with a 7-6-1 record. Boston won 26-8. But the next year, Jackie Kemp led the Bills to a 24-14 victory over the Patriots and then to their first league title over San Diego.

Last year, the Bills won the title again, but the Patriots were never in contention. Now, Buffalo, with an 8-3-1 mark, is in good position to win in the East again. A victory over Boston, 6-3-2 would help matters considerably.

Boston won the first meeting between the clubs in October, 20-10, when the Bills couldn't score until midway through the third period.

But since then, the Bills have been working on a five-game winning streak, during which time they have scored about five times as many points as they have allowed.

Jim Nance, already the leading rusher for an AFL season, leads the Boston attack, while Kemp, throwing well of late, sparks Buffalo.

The San Diego Chargers, eliminated from the Western Division race last Sunday, take on the Houston Oilers while the Denver Broncos host Miami in Sunday's other games. New York and Oakland played this afternoon.

Lance Alworth has returned to his flanker post, giving the Chargers' sagging offense a lift, and Paul Lowe showed his 1965 rushing form in last week's loss to Denver.

Don Trull, George Blanda's back-up man until recently, will quarterback the Oilers, whose Charlie Frazier shares the league touchdown lead at 10 with Alworth.

Rookie quarterback Max Choboian has guided the Broncos to two victories in their last three starts and linebacker John Bramlett has developed into one of the league's top defenders.

The Dolphins, whose victory over Denver last month was their first in AFL play, have quarterback problems, but fullback Cookie Gilchrist will be anxious to shine against his former Denver teammates.

The bird that stays constantly on the wing longer than any other is the chimney swift.

Twins Give Three For Pitcher Chance

Mincher, Hall, Pitcher Traded

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dean Chance and Bo Belinsky, once the most notorious off-field duo in baseball, have had one more fling — but only through the drafting and dealing at the annual meetings.

The California Angels completed the link as the meetings neared an end Friday when they traded Chance, the Cy Young Award winner in 1964, to the Minnesota Twins for first baseman Don Mincher, outfielder Jimmie Hall and pitcher Pete Cimino.

The Houston Astros triggered the fling at the start of the meetings by drafting Belinsky from the minor leagues.

Chance's turn came Friday.

"That's a fine pitcher we gave up," Angels' manager Bill Rigney said. "He has the finest arm in the American League. I can't replace that arm. There's no way I ever could do that.

"I'm reluctant to lose him, but we had to get nine men on the field, so to speak. We didn't have a first baseman, and we needed some punch.

"We wanted to surround Rick Reichardt, whom we feel is or will be one of the finest hitters in the American League, with some power and give him a free swing and a full swing. I think that's exactly what we've done."

Chance, named baseball's best pitcher three seasons ago when he compiled a 20-9 mark, a 1.65 earned run average and 11 shutouts, followed Maury Wills and Tommy Davis in one of the most sizzling trading markets in recent years.

Wills went from Los Angeles to Pittsburgh and Davis from Los Angeles to the New York Mets during the meetings that saw 10 teams make six deals involving 19 players.

Rigney didn't exactly give up on Chance following his 12-17 season, but the poor record made it easier for the Angel manager to part with a pitcher of whom he thinks so highly.

"I'd been disappointed, just as he was," Rigney said. "I think he tried too hard last year. He went back to try and prove he was the Cy Young winner again. He threw too hard and got wild. Nevertheless, there's no doubt this trade puts Minnesota right back in the pennant race."

Rigney was hoping his team could get started in that direction, too. He was happy because of the power Hall and Mincher can provide.

Rigney also was hopeful Chance's departure could pave the way for his younger pitchers to come through.

"This will give some of our younger pitchers a chance," he said. "I'm hoping Jorge Rubio will step in and say 'I'm it.' He has the best curve in our organization. His 15 strikeouts against Cleveland on the last day of the season impressed me.

"We're hoping he can join Marcelino Lopez, George Brunet and Fred Newman as our fourth starter.

Chance is only 25 years old and there's no reason why he can't come back. He has done it before.

The right-hander was 14-10 in 1962, only his second season in the majors, but his flings with Belinsky seemed to get the better of him the following season. He was fined several times for various minor incidents and his record dipped to 13-18.

But then came 1964, and he came back so far he was named the best pitcher in the majors.

Alcindor Makes Debut Tonight

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lew Alcindor, the most publicized college basketball player since Wilt Chamberlain at Kansas a decade ago, makes his varsity debut for UCLA against Southern California in Los Angeles tonight.

Even before the 7-foot-1¾ former New York City high school star ran onto the court at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion, his shadow probably played a part in the upset defeat of Duke by Virginia Tech Friday night 85-71.

Duke, fourth-ranked in the pre-season Associated Press Poll to UCLA, plays the top-ranked Bruins in Los Angeles next weekend. Vic Bubas, the Duke coach, said before the Virginia Tech game "I think one of the biggest mistakes we could make would be to think ahead to UCLA."

That may have been the case in the game at Charlotte's Coliseum where Duke trounced UCLA a year ago. Led by Glen Combs and Ron Perry, with 23 points each, the team that lost to Duke 112-79 last season scored a decisive victory over the Blue Devils.

Ted Ware added 18 points, including a vital three-point play that cut short a Duke rally, as the Gobblers inflicted Duke's first opening game loss in seven years.

"It was no fluke," Bubas said. "They just plain whipped us. They outshot us, outhustled us and outscrambled us. I take my hat off to VPI."

Nebraska beat Oregon 79-56, Iowa whipped Washington 66-50, Brigham Young crushed New Mexico State 97-66, Colorado State U. trimmed Idaho 96-71 and Xavier of Ohio edged the Air Force 69-65 in other leading games Friday night.

Packers Eye $ Pot From Super Bowl

By DICK COUCH
AP Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers, beginning to sniff the bonanza that awaits the survivor of pro football's 1966 power struggle, can break through the first major barrier Sunday on their way to the Super Bowl.

Green Bay, the defending National Football League champion, needs a victory over San Francisco to nail at least a share of the Western Conference title. If the Packers get past the 49ers and Baltimore bows to Chicago, they'll win the West outright and move into line for a possible January jackpot of $23,000 per man.

With winners' shares in the NFL championship game expected to hit $8,000 and the winning team in the Super Bowl playoff between NFL and American Football League kings guaranteed $15,000 per player, the total payoff could double the previous record for a team sport.

Should the Packers, solid favorites to avenge a 21-20 loss to San Francisco earlier in the season, win their 10th game in 12 starts, they'll turn their attention to the Bears-Colts game at Baltimore and the Eastern Division showdown at Dallas between the Cowboys and St. Louis Cardinals.

The Colts, who have dropped two in a row for a 7-4 mark, must win to stay alive. They play the Packers next Saturday at Baltimore.

A Dallas victory over the Cards would break their 8-2-1 stalemate in the East and give the Cowboys the inside track to their first division crown.

With the Eastern champion slated to play host in the title game, Dallas' 75,000-seat Cotton Bowl, sold out for Sunday's battle, would virtually assure an $8,000-plus cut for the NFL king.

Cleveland, still in the running in the East with a 7-4 record, entertains New York while Los Angeles, barely alive at 7-5 in the West, meets Detroit. Pittsburgh visits Philadelphia and Atlanta is at Minnesota in other Sunday action.

Depite their fourth - place standing, the 49ers, who have won six of their last eight, still envision a gold strike in the West. However, even if they ambush the Packers, it will take two more victories and two more Green Bay defeats to put them over.

Gale Sayers, running with abandon again, leads the Bears into Baltimore, where Johnny Unitas, troubled by a sore right arm, tries to bounce back against Chicago's strong pass rush.

Dallas sends the league's most potent offensive machine, triggered by quarterback Don Meredith, against a St. Louis club that has remained in the Eastern race despite the loss of quarterback Charley Johnson a month ago.

The Browns figure to heap more misery on the fumbling Giants, who were drubbed by Washington 72-41 in last Sunday's NFL record-scoring spree.

The Rams, led by an overpowering defensive line and the strong running of Dick Bass, have assured themselves of their best finish since 1958, but the best they can hope for is a tie for the Western title. The Lions are going nowhere, but their Pat Studstill leads the NFL with 61 pass receptions.

Pittsburgh's Bill Nelsen, sidelined with a knee injury since the second week of the season, may play against the Eagles, whose Timmy Brown has recovered from a concussion.

Bob Berry, a second-year quarterback who has seen little action behind Frank Tarkenton and Ron VanderKelen, will start for Minnesota against the Falcons, who need a victory to escape the Eastern cellar.

Team Physician Of Grid Giants Claimed At 72

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Francis Sweeney, team physician for the New York Giants of the National Football League and Manhattan College athletic teams, is dead.

Sweeney, 72, succumbed early Friday. He had suffered a stroke in Manhattan's dressing room Thursday night after the Jaspers' basketball game against C. W. Post.

A graduate of Georgetown University School of Medicine in 1922, Sweeney later became physcian for the Georgetown football team and for baseball's New York Giants before they moved to San Francisco.

Dixonville Viking Team Is Honored

A talk by Joseph Cochran, assistant principal of Westgate and defensive line coach of the Potter football team, and presentation of trophies featured a banquet honoring members of the Dixonville Vikings football team Wednesday night at Westgate cafeteria.

The banquet was sponsored by the Vikings Boosters Club and 25 trophies were awarded to members of the team. Special recognition was given to eight boys who will graduate from Little League football. They included David Ronshausen, Mike Cain, Mike Karcher, Rob Parsons, Mike Bevington, Ralph Hephner, David Simms and John Hughes.

Twenty members of the Pee Wee team were given trophies by their coaches Ben Weber and Glenn McGaffic.

Members of the coaching staff included Frank Hilliard, head coach and assistants Bill McHenry, Bob Estell, Lorin Howard and Pete Glasure.

Guests included Paul Zehnder of WOHI, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gilbert, organizers of the Boosters Club and the Rev. Arthur Williams of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church.

Shirley Green, president of the Boosters Club, received a trophy from Mrs. Mary Vorkapick and the coaches were presented trophies from members of the team.

Following the banquet officers were elected including Shirley Green, president, Mary Vorkapick, vice president, Roxanna Parsons, secretary, Mabel Ronshausen, treasurer and Betty Linville in charge of cheerleaders.

Chuck Studley, Cincinnati U. Coach, Resigns

CINCINNATI (AP) — Chuck Studley, apparently feeling the pressure of losing seasons the last two years, resigned Friday as head football coach of the University of Cincinnati.

He had been under fire because of the Bearcats' 1966 record of 3-7. In his six years here, his teams won 27 games and lost 33.

Studley, 37, said he resigned "so the university could find fresh, new leadership."

He said his plans are indefinite, but he will consider "firm opportunities" offered by the university "in either central administration or in the academic area."

Studley was named Missouri Valley Conference coach of the year in 1964 when Cincinnati won it's first outright football title. The bearcats were co-champions in 1963.

Names of possible successors include Nick Skorich, former Bearcat player and now an assistant coach of the pro Cleveland Browns.

229 In Auto Rally

MONTE CARLO (AP) — A field of 229 will compete in the 1967 Monte Carlo auto rally Jan. 14-21, it was announced Friday.

Wilt Now Seeks Shooting Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain, who has shattered almost every offensive barrier in professional basketball, has his sights set on still another one — field goal shooting percentage.

The 7-foot-1 star of the Philadelphia 76ers is shooting a fantastic 68 per cent from the field in his first 23 games of the National Basketball Association season. He has collected 229 field goals in 334 tries.

Chamberlain exceeded himself Friday night as he led the 76ers to a 138-130 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers. He shot a perfect 13-for-13 from the field, collecting 28 points. In his spare time, Wilt dragged down 30 rebounds and handed out seven assists.

Chamberlain himself holds the league record for field goal shooting percentage — 54.0 per cent — which he set last year. Also, he has a chance Saturday night to break another of his records when Philadelphia plays the Baltimore Bullets at Baltimore. If he hoops his first four shots, that will make 20 straight in a three-game span, snapping his mark of 19-for-19.

He helped break a close game wide open midway in the final period with several of his famous "dunk" shots in a 14-4 Philadelphia rally that clinched the 76ers' sixth straight victory and their 14th in the last 15 games.

With the second-place Boston Celtics losing to Detroit Friday night, Philadelphia now leads the Eastern Division by 4½ games with a 21-2 record.

To give an idea as to how Chamberlain has been shooting, going back and starting with the 128-119 victory at Detroit Wednesday, Wilt's chart reads this way:

Ten-for-12; 10-for-11; 8-for-14; 16-for-17; 10-for16; 10for16; 9 for-4; 9-for-11; 10-for-12; 10-for-15; 9-for-10 and, etc.

If he hadn't experienced a two-game early-season slump, he probably would be approaching 75 per cent. He went 8-for-18 in his brief falloff.

Also, it must be taken into consideration that the big fellow usually has two men hanging on when he lifts that 275-pound frame over the basket.

Chamberlain's accuracy apparently is catching on with his teammates as the 76ers went 16-for-17 in the final period of Friday night's game with the Lakers.

Philadelphia beat the Lakers despite a spectacular shooting performance by Elgin Baylor, who gimpy-kneed and all, hit 17-for-28 from the field and 3-for-4 from the foul line to lead everybody in scoring with 37 points.

Detroit beat Boston, 119-116, for the third time this season, but had to overcome a three-point deficit with 3½ minutes left in the game to do it.

Dave Bing hit 16 of his 20 points in the final period and Eddie Miles topped the Pistons with 27 points. John Havlicek of the Celtics led all scorers with 34 points.

St. Louis beat New York 109-107 on Bill Bridges' hook shot from the corner as the gun sounded. The Knicks made up a 23-point, third-quarter deficit to tie the game with 55 seconds left. Joe Caldwell had 23 points for the Hawks, who broke a five-game losing streak. Willis Reed led the Knicks with 26 points.

Twins Give Three For Pitcher Chance

Mincher, Hall, Pitcher Traded

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dean Chance and Bo Belinsky, once the most notorious off-field duo in baseball, have had one more fling — but only through the drafting and dealing at the annual meetings.

The California Angels completed the link as the meetings neared an end Friday when they traded Chance, the Cy Young Award winner in 1964, to the Minnesota Twins for first baseman Don Mincher, outfielder Jimmie Hall and pitcher Pete Cimino.

The Houston Astros triggered the fling at the start of the meetings by drafting Belinsky from the minor leagues.

The Angels ended the Hollywood high jinks of the dashing duo exactly two years ago when they traded Belinsky to Philadelphia.

Chance's turn came Friday.

"That's a fine pitcher we gave up," Angels' manager Bill Rigney said. "He has the finest arm in the American League. I can't replace that arm. There's no way I ever could do that.

"I'm reluctant to lose him, but we had to get nine men on the field, so to speak. We didn't have a first baseman, and we needed some punch.

"We wanted to surround Rick Reichardt, whom we feel is or will be one of the finest hitters in the American League, with some power and give him a free swing and a full swing. I think that's exactly what we've done."

Chance, named baseball's best pitcher three seasons ago when he compiled a 20-9 mark, a 1.65 earned run average and 11 shutouts, followed Maury Wills and Tommy Davis in one of the most sizzling trading markets in recent years.

Wills went from Los Angeles to Pittsburgh and Davis from Los Angeles to the New York Mets during the meetings that saw 10 teams make six deals involving 19 players.

Rigney didn't exactly give up on Chance following his 12-17 season, but the poor record made it easier for the Angel manager to part with a pitcher of whom he thinks so highly.

"I'd been disappointed, just as he was," Rigney said. "I think he tried too hard last year. He went back to try and prove he was the Cy Young winner again. He threw too hard and got wild. Nevertheless, there's no doubt this trade puts Minnesota right back in the pennant race."

Rigney was hoping his team could get started in that direction, too. He was happy because of the power Hall and Mincher can provide.

Rigney also was hopeful Chance's departure could pave the way for his younger pitchers to come through.

"This will give some of our younger pitchers a chance," he said. "I'm hoping Jorge Rubio will step in and say 'I'm it.' He has the best curve in our organization. His 15 strikeouts against Cleveland on the last day of the season impressed me.

"We're hoping he can join Marcelino Lopez, George Brunet and Fred Newman as our fourth starter.

Chance is only 25 years old and there's no reason why he can't come back. He has done it before.

The right-hander was 14-10 in 1962, only his second season in the majors, but his flings with Belinsky seemed to get the better of him the following season. He was fined several times for various minor incidents and his record dipped to 13-18.

But then came 1964, and he came back so far he was named the best pitcher in the majors.

Alcindor Makes Debut Tonight

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lew Alcindor, the most publicized college basketball player since Wilt Chamberlain at Kansas a decade ago, makes his varsity debut for UCLA against Southern California in Los Angeles tonight.

Even before the 7-foot-1⅜s former New York City high school star ran onto the court at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion, his shadow probably played a part in the upset defeat of Duke by Virginia Tech Friday night 85-71.

Duke, fourth-ranked in the pre-season Associated Press Poll to UCLA, plays the top-ranked Bruins in Los Angeles next weekend. Vic Bubas, the Duke coach, said before the Virginia Tech game "I think one of the biggest mistakes we could make would be to think ahead to UCLA."

That may have been the case in the game at Charlotte's Coliseum where Duke trounced UCLA a year ago. Led by Glen Combs and Ron Perry, with 23 points each, the team that lost to Duke 112-79 last season scored a decisive victory over the Blue Devils.

Ted Ware added 18 points, including a vital three-point play that cut short a Duke rally, as the Gobblers inflicted Duke's first opening game loss in seven years.

"It was no fluke," Bubas said. "They just plain whipped us. They outshot us, outhustled us and outscrambled us. I take my hat off to VPI."

Nebraska beat Oregon 79-56, Iowa whipped Washington 66-50, Brigham Young crushed New Mexico State 97-66, Colorado State U. trimmed Idaho 96-71 and Xavier of Ohio edged the Air Force 69-65 in other leading games Friday night.

Team Physician Of Grid Giants Claimed At 72

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Francis Sweeney, team physician for the New York Giants of the National Football League and Manhattan College athletic teams, is dead.

Sweeney, 72, succumbed early Friday. He had suffered a stroke in Manhattan's dressing room Thursday night after the Jaspers' basketball game against C. W. Post.

A graduate of Georgetown University School of Medicine in 1922, Sweeney later became physcian for the Georgetown football team and for baseball's New York Giants before they moved to San Francisco.

Packers Eye $ Pot From Super Bowl

By DICK COUCH
AP Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers, beginning to sniff the bonanza that awaits the survivor of pro football's 1966 power struggle, can break through the first major barrier Sunday on their way to the Super Bowl.

Green Bay, the defending National Football League champion, needs a victory over San Francisco to nail at least a share of the Western Conference title. If the Packers get past the 49ers and Baltimore bows to Chicago, they'll win the West outright and move into line for a possible January jackpot of $23,000 per man.

With winners' shares in the NFL championship game expected to hit $8,000 and the winning team in the Super Bowl playoff between NFL and American Football League kings guaranteed $15,000 per player, the total payoff could double the previous record for a team sport.

Should the Packers, solid favorites to avenge a 21-20 loss to San Francisco earlier in the season, win their 10th game in 12 starts, they'll turn their attention to the Bears-Colts game at Baltimore and the Eastern Division showdown at Dallas between the Cowboys and St. Louis Cardinals.

The Colts, who have dropped two in a row for a 7-4 mark, must win to stay alive. They play the Packers next Saturday at Baltimore.

A Dallas victory over the Cards would break their 8-2-1 stalemate in the East and give the Cowboys the inside track to their first division crown.

With the Eastern champion slated to play host in the title game, Dallas' 75,000-seat Cotton Bowl, sold out for Sunday's battle, would virtually assure an $8,000-plus cut for the NFL king.

Cleveland, still in the running in the East with a 7-4 record, entertains New York while Los Angeles, barely alive at 7-5 in the West, meets Detroit. Pittsburgh visits Philadelphia and Atlanta is at Minnesota in other Sunday action.

Depite their fourth - place standing, the 49ers, who have won six of their last eight, still envision a gold strike in the West. However, even if they ambush the Packers, it will take two more victories and two more Green Bay defeats to put them over.

Gale Sayers, running with abandon again, leads the Bears into Baltimore, where Johnny Unitas, troubled by a sore right arm, tries to bounce back against Chicago's strong pass rush.

Dallas sends the league's most potent offensive machine, triggered by quarterback Don Meredith, against a St. Louis club that has remained in the Eastern race despite the loss of quarterback Charley Johnson a month ago.

The Browns figure to heap more misery on the fumbling Giants, who were drubbed by Washington 72-41 in last Sunday's NFL record-scoring spree.

The Rams, led by an overpowering defensive line and the strong running of Dick Bass, have assured themselves of their best finish since 1958, but the best they can hope for is a tie for the Western title. The Lions are going nowhere, but their Pat Studstill leads the NFL with 61 pass receptions.

Pittsburgh's Bill Nelsen, sidelined with a knee injury since the second week of the season, may play against the Eagles, whose Timmy Brown has recovered from a concussion.

Bob Berry, a second-year quarterback who has seen little action behind Frank Tarkenton and Ron VanderKelen, will start for Minnesota against the Falcons, who need a victory to escape the Eastern cellar.

They included David Ronshausen, Mike Cain, Mike Karcher, Rob Parsons, Mike Bevington, Ralph Hephner, David Simms and John Hughes.

Twenty members of the Pee Wee team were given trophies by their coaches Ben Weber and Glenn McGaffic.

Members of the coaching staff included Frank Hilliard, head coach and assistants Bill McHenry, Bob Estell, Lorin Howard and Pete Glasure.

Guests included Paul Zehnder of WOHI, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gilbert, organizers of the Boosters Club and the Rev. Arthur Williams of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church.

Chuck Studley, Cincinnati U. Coach, Resigns

CINCINNATI (AP) — Chuck Studley, apparently feeling the pressure of losing seasons the last two years, resigned Friday as head football coach of the University of Cincinnati.

He had been under fire because of the Bearcats' 1966 record of 3-7. In his six years here, his teams won 27 games and lost 33.

Studley, 37, said he resigned "so the university could find fresh, new leadership."

He said his plans are indefinite, but he will consider "firm opportunities" offered by the university "in either central administration or in the academic area."

Studley was named Missouri Valley Conference coach of the year in 1964 when Cincinnati won it's first outright football title. The bearcats were co-champions in 1963.

Names of possible successors include Nick Skorich, former Bearcat player and now an assistant coach of the pro Cleveland Browns.

229 In Auto Rally

MONTE CARLO (AP) — A field of 229 will compete in the 1967 Monte Carlo auto rally Jan. 14-21, it was announced Friday.

Wilt Now Seeks Shooting Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain, who has shattered almost every offensive barrier in professional basketball, has his sights set on still another one — field goal shooting percentage.

The 7-foot-1 star of the Philadelphia 76ers is shooting a fantastic 68 per cent from the field in his first 23 games of the National Basketball Association season. He has collected 229 field goals in 334 tries.

Chamberlain exceeded himself Friday night as he led the 76ers to a 138-130 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers. He shot a perfect 13-for-13 from the field, collecting 28 points. In his spare time, Wilt dragged down 30 rebounds and handed out seven assists.

Chamberlain himself holds the league record for field goal shooting percentage — 54.0 per cent — which he set last year. Also, he has a chance Saturday night to break another of his records when Philadelphia plays the Baltimore Bullets at Baltimore. If he hoops his first four shots, that will make 20 straight in a three-game span, snapping his mark of 19-for-19.

He helped break a close game wide open midway in the final period with several of his famous "dunk" shots in a 14-4 Philadelphia rally that clinched the 76ers' sixth straight victory and their 14th in the last 15 games.

With the second-place Boston Celtics losing to Detroit Friday night, Philadelphia now leads the Eastern Division by 4½ games with a 21-2 record.

To give an idea as to how Chamberlain has been shooting, going back and starting with the 128-119 victory at Detroit Wednesday, Wilt's chart reads this way:

Ten-for-12; 10-for-11; 8-for-14; 16-for-17; 10-for16; 10for-16; 9 for-4; 9-for-11; 10-for-12; 10-for-15; 9-for-10 and, etc.

If he hadn't experienced a two-game early-season slump, he probably would be approaching 75 per cent. He went 8-for-18 in his brief falloff.

Also, it must be taken into consideration that the big fellow usually has two men hanging on when he lifts that 275-pound frame over the basket.

Chamberlain's accuracy apparently is catching on with his teammates as the 76ers went 16-for-17 in the final period of Friday night's game with the Lakers.

Philadelphia beat the Lakers despite a spectacular shooting performance by Elgin Baylor, who gimpy-kneed and all, hit 17-for-28 from the field and 3-for-4 from the foul line to lead everybody in scoring with 37 points.

Detroit beat Boston, 119-116, for the third time this season, but had to overcome a three-point deficit with 3½ minutes left in the game to do it.

Dave Bing hit 16 of his 20 points in the final period and Eddie Miles topped the Pistons with 27 points. John Havlicek of the Celtics led all scorers with 34 points.

St. Louis beat New York 109-107 on Bill Bridges' hook shot from the corner as the gun sounded. The Knicks made up a 23-point, third-quarter deficit to tie the game with 55 seconds left. Joe Caldwell had 23 points for the Hawks, who broke a five-game losing streak. Willis Reed led the Knicks with 26 points.

Eleven members have died since the service last December. The public is invited to attend along with members of the families of the deceased members.

Dr. Harold E. Wilson, superintendent of schools at Cuyahoga Falls, will deliver the memorial address. A native of East Liverpool, he is the son of the late Edwin C. Wilson and Helen Wilson.

The members who died since the 1965 service are Hamilton C. English, Edward J. Loftus, Harold W. Cartwright, J. Guy Pittenger, Carroll P. Lynch, Gale W. Laughlin, James S. Hoschar, Harry S. Lewis Jr., James J. Maley, Robert H. Pyle and Joseph A. Grafton.

Ernest A. Lowe will be soloist, accompanied by his wife. Paul A. Betteridge, exalted ruler, and the lodge officers will conduct the opening ceremonies and responsive reading. All members will participate in a floral tribute to the deceased.

At the Grand Lodge convention in 1890, the first Sunday in each December was established as a day for all lodges to commemorate the names of the deceased and to list them on "the tablets of love and memory" erected in the lodge rooms. More than 2,050 lodges with a membership of over 1,361,000 in the U.S., Guam, Panama Canal Zone, Puerto Rico and the Philippines will conduct services.

The Lady Elks will serve a roast beef dinner in the grillroom at 5 p. m. for Elks and their families.

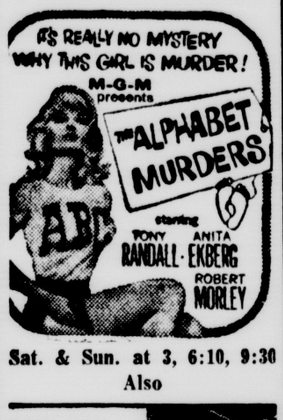

The memorial committee consists of Michael J. Gerace, William M. Wilson, Robert McIntosh and Robert McLane.

Action Slated By Council On Captain's Job

Council is scheduled to act Monday night on an ordinance that would abolish the captain's post in the police department and substitute a fourth lieutenancy.

The change in the lineup of ranking officers was suggested by Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey a few weeks ago following the death of Capt. Robert H. Pyle. The captain's post pays $485, or $10 a month more than a lieutenancy.

The department now has three lieutenants — Charles E. (Bill) Tice, Kenneth H. Mooney and Robert B. Pyle, son of the late captain. There are 21 patrolmen when the department is at its authorized strength.

Action on the police department post was delayed at the Nov. 21 meeting because of the absence of two councilmen.

Two other holdover pieces of legislation also are scheduled for action. They are: A resolution authorizing the Board of Public Utilities to call for bids and award a contract for a new two-ton truck cab and chassis, trading in a 1955 model, and another resolution authorizing payment of a $25 claim filed against the city by James T. Allison of 1511 Globe St. following a stoppage in a sewer line last June 17.

New legislation will include an amendment to the annual appropriation ordinance providing year - end allocations for several departments.

Council's last regular meeting of 1966 will fall Dec. 19, marking the halfway point in the biennium. However, a special meeting probably will be necessary before Dec. 31 to finish off other year-end business.

Plane Locates What's Believed Sunken Carrier

HARBOR BEACH, Mich. (AP) — The fate of eight missing crewmen from the sunken ore carrier Daniel J. Morrell may be hidden today on the bottom of Lake Huron, their grave marker a bobbing navigation buoy.

A sonar-equipped search plane located what is believed to be the 603-foot freighter under 198 feet of water Friday, more than three days after the 60-year-old vessel split in two in a raging gale.

Only one member of the 29-man crew — 26-year-old Dennis Hale of Ashtabula, Ohio — survived. Apparently he suffered no after-effects from 36 hours on an open life raft.

Broken oars, life jackets and other debris from the wreckage littered the shoreline near Harbor Beach. A rudder and a portion of a life boat were discovered about the same time the sunken hull was spotted.

The rudder was found 20 miles west of Bayfield, Ontario.

A marker was planted over the remains of the hull in case the ship's operators, Bethlehem Steel Corp., decide to salvage it. The Coast Guard will convene an official board of inquiry in Cleveland Monday.

Chicago Family Ready To Sail On 'Dream Cruise'

ROBINHOOD, Maine (AP) — A Chicago family was set to sail today on a five-to-seven-year dream cruise aboard a sturdy wooden yacht that resembles an ocean trawler.

Martin Roefer, 45, his wife, Helen, and their four sons hope to cover 10,000 miles on their voyage — southward to the Panama Canal, across the Pacific and Indian oceans, through the Red and Mediterranean seas, and home across the Atlantic.

Their 52-foot Mirage was built for them in this picturesque little port.

The boys — Martin, 12, Billy, 8, Jim, 6, and Larry, 5 — won't get out of school. Their mother is a teacher and plans daily classwork aboard ship.

"But we won't teach geography," Mrs. Roefer said, "The boys will be living it."

The velocity of sound increases about one second for each degree of Fahrenheit the temperature rises.

Couple Looking To Future After Last Of Quints Dies

PITTSBURGH (AP)—By their doctor's account, Michael and Patti Aranson endured the "terrible thing" bravely.

Today, the young couple looks to the future "maturely and sensibly," says the doctor. And, perhaps, the future will bring a normal, healthy baby.

A week ago today, Mrs. Aranson, 22, gave birth to quintuplets, all girls, 2½ months premature. The joy was dulled by the realization that the survival of all five was indeed a long shot.

One by one, they died.

Roni Sue, the biggest and strongest with the best hope of survival, died Friday.

At birth she weighed one pound, 11 ounces—about twice as big as a man's hand. She held on for six days, enduring jaundice, a 75 per cent blood exchange, immature lungs and possible brain damage.

Dr. Lee Bass, Mrs. Aranson's pediatrician, said Roni Sue died from "probable brain damage and pulmonary (lung) immaturity."

Three died Sunday — Amy Beth, Susan and Kimberly Ann. Marci Jill died the next day.

The deaths were blamed on respiratory ailments. Their lungs weren't big enough to sustain life.

At the time, hope remained for Roni Sue and Dr. Bass said Michael and Patti "are anxious to get one live baby and are praying."

When the end came Friday, Dr. Bass said Mrs. Aranson took the news "quite good, as good as any young woman who has gone through such an ordeal."

The doctor added:

"We talked very truthfully with the parents during the whole ordeal, and they were expecting that this would happen.

"It's a pretty terrible thing for them to have gone through. A normal, healthy pregnancy is a big enough crisis in anyone's life.

"This young couple has continued to amaze me for the days I have been with them. They are looking forward to the future maturely and sensibly."

Asked about Mrs. Aranson's chance of having babies in the future, the doctor said:

"We hope that they are excellent. We hope that she will have one normal, healthy baby in the very near future."

Private funeral services were held for the five Friday. Mrs. Aranson remains in Magee-Women's Hospital.

Communist Groups Hunted In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Army troops continued a major roundup today in Jakarta in search of Communist underground elements.

The troops also took time to stop youths with Beatle haircuts and chop off their long locks in the middle of the street.

Traffic was tied up for two hours or more in some areas of the Indonesian capital while troops searched cars.

Pro-Reds Sack City Building Of Portugal Colony

MACAO (AP) — Several thousands pro-Communist Chinese rioters sacked Macao's City Hall and fought with police today as this tiny Portuguese colony faced its most serious crisis since Red Chinese artillery fired on it during a border row in 1952.

The demonstrators, reportedly directed by Peking, tore portraits of former Portuguese governors off the walls in the City Hall and tossed books and city records into the street, setting them afire.

Others battled with police barring the entrance to government house, overturning police cars and beating up officials. Several police and at least a score of demonstrators were reported hurt.

At one point police tried to use tear gas to control the rioters, but a brisk wind blew it out over harbor waters. It was the third demonstration in four days.

Annual Memorial Rites Set On Sunday By Elks

East Liverpool Elks Lodge 258 will conduct its 74th annual memorial services for 437 deceased members Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Elks ballroom.

Eleven members have died since the service last December. The public is invited to attend along with members of the families of the deceased members.

Dr. Harold E. Wilson, superintendent of schools at Cuyahoga Falls, will deliver the memorial address. A native of East Liverpool, he is the son of the late Edwin C. Wilson and Helen Wilson.

The members who died since the 1965 service are Hamilton C. English, Edward J. Loftus, Harold W. Cartwright, J. Guy Pittenger, Carroll P. Lynch, Gale W. Laughlin, James S. Hoschar, Harry S. Lewis Jr., James J. Maley, Robert H. Pyle and Joseph A. Grafton.

Ernest A. Lowe will be soloist, accompanied by his wife. Paul A. Betteridge, exalted ruler, and the lodge officers will conduct the opening ceremonies and responsive reading. All members will participate in a floral tribute to the deceased.

At the Grand Lodge convention in 1890, the first Sunday in each December was established as a day for all lodges to commemorate the names of the deceased and to list them on "the tablets of love and memory" erected in the lodge rooms. Action Slated By Council On Captain's Job

Council is scheduled to act Monday night on an ordinance that would abolish the captain's post in the police department and substitute a fourth lieutenancy.

The change in the lineup of ranking officers was suggested by Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey a few weeks ago following the death of Capt. Robert H. Pyle. The captain's post pays $485, or $10 a month more than a lieutenancy.

The department now has three lieutenants — Charles E. (Bill) Tice, Kenneth H. Mooney and Robert B. Pyle, son of the late captain. There are 21 patrolmen when the department is at its authorized strength.

Action on the police department post was delayed at the Nov. 21 meeting because of the absence of two councilmen.

Two other holdover pieces of legislation also are scheduled for action. They are: A resolution authorizing the Board of Public Utilities to call for bids and award a contract for a new two-ton truck cab and chassis, trading in a 1955 model, and another resolution authorizing payment of a $25 claim filed against the city by James T. Allison of 1511 Globe St. following a stoppage in a sewer line last June 17.

New legislation will include an amendment to the annual appropriation ordinance providing year - end allocations for several departments.

Council's last regular meeting of 1966 will fall Dec. 19, marking the halfway point in the biennium. However, a special meeting probably will be necessary before Dec. 31 to finish off other year-end business.

Plane Locates What's Believed Sunken Carrier

HARBOR BEACH, Mich. (AP) — The fate of eight missing crewmen from the sunken ore carrier Daniel J. Morrell may be hidden today on the bottom of Lake Huron, their grave marker a bobbing navigation buoy.

A sonar-equipped search plane located what is believed to be the 603-foot freighter under 198 feet of water Friday, more than three days after the 60-year-old vessel split in two in a raging gale.

Only one member of the 29-man crew — 26-year-old Dennis Hale of Ashtabula, Ohio — survived. Apparently he suffered no after-effects from 36 hours on an open life raft.

Broken oars, life jackets and other debris from the wreckage littered the shoreline near Harbor Beach. A rudder and a portion of a life boat were discovered about the same time the sunken hull was spotted.

The rudder was found 20 miles west of Bayfield, Ontario.

A marker was planted over the remains of the hull in case the ship's operators, Bethlehem Steel Corp., decide to salvage it. The Coast Guard will convene an official board of inquiry in Cleveland Monday.

Chicago Family Ready To Sail On 'Dream Cruise'

ROBINHOOD, Maine (AP) — A Chicago family was set to sail today on a five-to-seven-year dream cruise aboard a sturdy wooden yacht that resembles an ocean trawler.

Martin Roefer, 45, his wife, Helen, and their four sons hope to cover 10,000 miles on their voyage — southward to the Panama Canal, across the Pacific and Indian oceans, through the Red and Mediterranean seas, and home across the Atlantic.

Their 52-foot Mirage was built for them in this picturesque little port.

The boys — Martin, 12, Billy, 8, Jim, 6, and Larry, 5 — won't get out of school. Their mother is a teacher and plans daily classwork aboard ship.

"But we won't teach geography," Mrs. Roefer said, "The boys will be living it."

Couple Looking To Future After Last Of Quints Dies

PITTSBURGH (AP)—By their doctor's account, Michael and Patti Aranson endured the "terrible thing" bravely.

Today, the young couple looks to the future "maturely and sensibly," says the doctor. And, perhaps, the future will bring a normal, healthy baby.

A week ago today, Mrs. Aranson, 22, gave birth to quintuplets, all girls, 2½ months premature. The joy was dulled by the realization that the survival of all five was indeed a long shot.

One by one, they died.

Roni Sue, the biggest and strongest with the best hope of survival, died Friday.

At birth she weighed one pound, 11 ounces—about twice as big as a man's hand. She held on for six days, enduring jaundice, a 75 per cent blood exchange, immature lungs and possible brain damage.

Dr. Lee Bass, Mrs. Aranson's pediatrician, said Roni Sue died from "probable brain damage and pulmonary (lung) immaturity."

Three died Sunday — Amy Beth, Susan and Kimberly Ann. Marci Jill died the next day.

The deaths were blamed on respiratory ailments. Their lungs weren't big enough to sustain life.

At the time, hope remained for Roni Sue and Dr. Bass said Michael and Patti "are anxious to get one live baby and are praying."

When the end came Friday, Dr. Bass said Mrs. Aranson took the news "quite good, as good as any young woman who has gone through such an ordeal."

The doctor added:

"We talked very truthfully with the parents during the whole ordeal, and they were expecting that this would happen.

"It's a pretty terrible thing for them to have gone through. A normal, healthy pregnancy is a big enough crisis in anyone's life.

"This young couple has continued to amaze me for the days I have been with them. They are looking forward to the future maturely and sensibly."

Asked about Mrs. Aranson's chance of having babies in the future, the doctor said:

"We hope that they are excellent. We hope that she will have one normal, healthy baby in the very near future."

Private funeral services were held for the five Friday. Mrs. Aranson remains in Magee-Women's Hospital.

Communist Groups Hunted In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Army troops continued a major roundup today in Jakarta in search of Communist underground elements.

The troops also took time to stop youths with Beatle haircuts and chop off their long locks in the middle of the street.

Traffic was tied up for two hours or more in some areas of the Indonesian capital while troops searched cars.

Pro-Reds Sack City Building Of Portugal Colony

MACAO (AP) — Several thousands pro-Communist Chinese rioters sacked Macao's City Hall and fought with police today as this tiny Portuguese colony faced its most serious crisis since Red Chinese artillery fired on it during a border row in 1952.

The demonstrators, reportedly directed by Peking, tore portraits of former Portuguese governors off the walls in the City Hall and tossed books and city records into the street, setting them afire.

Others battled with police barring the entrance to government house, overturning police cars and beating up officials. Several police and at least a score of demonstrators were reported hurt.

At one point police tried to use tear gas to control the rioters, but a brisk wind blew it out over harbor waters. It was the third demonstration in four days.

A Junior Editors Quiz About BANDING BIRDS

QUESTION: What is the value of bird-watching?

ANSWER: Birds, which destroy so many harmful insects, are of very great value to us. Consequently, we try to protect them in every way we can. To do this, we need to understand their movements from place to place, especially during the spring and fall migrations when most birds are flying north in spring and south in fall. This is where bird banding comes in. Birds are trapped, and aluminum bands fastened around their legs. They are released without being injured. Each band has a number. Later, people finding such banded birds will see an address on the tag: The Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington, D. C. They will write giving the number the date and where the bird was found. The Fish and Wildlife Service enters this data in its records, which people working to protect birds frequently consult. Some of the larger birds, such as the Canada goose we show, may have colored bands placed around their necks. Observers, seeing these bands on birds in flight, will report to the Wildlife Service, giving the color they saw. Only expert bird students over 18 are allowed to catch and band birds.

FOR YOU TO DO: If you can't band birds, you can at least report to Washington any you find with bands on. Be sure to give number, date and place.
